Big Ron's management consultancy

Ron Atkinson, they say, has had more clubs than Jack Nicklaus. One of football's most ebullient characters, he managed nine clubs, working his way across the Midlands from Kettering (Town) to Nottingham (Forest), with diversions to Manchester (United) and (Atletico) Madrid. But Big Ron has retired from management now and is concentrating on his television career, which this month takes a new direction as he hosts his own series for the first time – Extra Time with Ron Atkinson.

In it, he chats to six managers past and present – Kevin Keegan, Brian Clough, Terry Venables, Graham Taylor, Gordon Strachan and Martin O'Neill. I ask him which manager he rates most highly. Sir Alex Ferguson? Sir Matt Busby? Bill Shankly? 'No, for what he's done and where he's done it, Cloughie, for me, is the best of all time,' he says. However, he has fond memories of the late Liverpool manager Bill Shankly, who acted as something of a mentor during Atkinson's early management career. 'I used to talk to him a lot, even when I was at Manchester United,' he recalls. 'He was brilliant. He'd give you little philosophies and that. When I was wondering whether to buy Bryan Robson, I said: "What would you pay for him, Bill?" He said: "Whatever he costs, son."'

Atkinson believes the conversion of football clubs into plcs means managers can no longer mould clubs in their own image, as they did as recently as the Eighties. Nevertheless, there are still some powerful characters about, such as Atkinson's protégé, Coventry City's Gordon Strachan. 'I thought that Coventry would win something this year,' Atkinson says. 'I fancied them strongly for the FA Cup.' Atkinson won the FA Cup himself as the Manchester United manager, but oddly that is not what he considers his finest accomplishment. 'In my second or third year at West Brom we were bottom of the league at Christmas,' he says. 'But I kept the players believing in themselves, and we only lost one game in the second half of the season. We finished ninth. I'm very proud of that.'

Watch this Spaced!

'An unusual specimen, a British sitcom that's actually funny,' declared the Sunday Times of Spaced, written by and starring Jessica Stevenson and Simon Pegg (right). Despite the critical acclaim heaped on Spaced, Stevenson is probably still best-known as The Royle Family's Cheryl, the podgy neighbour on a permanent diet. She tells me that its writers, Caroline Aherne and Craig Cash, spotted her in a nursing drama called Staying Alive. 'It wasn't a comedy so I don't know what they saw in me. I didn't even have to audition. I was stunned.' She has proved herself to be a talented comedy writer as well as a fine performer with Spaced, which takes that hackneyed sitcom device, the twentysomething flatshare, and gives it a few twists, some inspired by her own experiences of rented accommodation. 'I shared one flat with an obsessive compulsive who used to stick postcards on the wall slightly wonky to see if I would straighten them, and when I did screamed that I was a control freak. I also lived next door to a paranoid schizophrenic who came round with a baseball bat complaining that we were washing up too loudly.' By comparison with real life, Spaced suddenly doesn't seem that weird after all.

The new pond girl

Alan Titchmarsh's television career began in 1979 when, as assistant editor of a gardening magazine, he was invited by the current affairs programme Nationwide to talk about a greenfly invasion of Margate. So for gardeners, fame can have curious roots. Charlie Dimmock was working as a humble assistant at a garden centre when she was asked by a TV researcher to appear on a regional gardening programme, an encounter which blossomed into Ground Force and, in due course, a horticultural makeover for none other than Nelson Mandela. It was quite a thrill for 33-year-old Charlie (still strictly Charlotte to her family, incidentally) to meet the great man. What on earth, if you'll pardon the pun, did you and Mandela talk about?

'We talked about problems with his garden. And he told me that he grew tomatoes in prison, but had trouble getting them to germinate properly.' Charlie is often described as the quintessential English rose, and yet I notice a distinct Antipodean twang in her accent, the legacy, she tells me, of 18 months working in New Zealand as an airline check-in clerk. The New Zealand vowels get stronger after she's had a few drinks, she adds, 'much to my mother's horror'. Speaking of horror, I wonder whether she has yet acquired that almost obligatory celebrity accessory, a stalker? 'No, but there is a website where you can see me naked. I haven't seen it. You have to pay for it and my boyfriend wouldn't pay. I just hope they've grafted my head onto someone with a decent body!'

From York to LA ...

Janet McTeer is a nominee at the time of writing – and perhaps a winner at the time of reading – for a Best Actress Academy Award. Either way, it is quite an achievement, given that her performance, in Tumbleweeds, is her first in a starring role on the big screen. She plays a Southern belle from the Carolinas, which takes some doing for an English girl from York. Yet McTeer's accent was so convincing that a number of Americans in the audience gasped when they heard her speaking after the first public screening of the film, at the Sundance Film Festival.

She perfected the accent, she says, by listening to lots of country music and watching Sissy Spacek in Coal Miner's Daughter literally dozens of times. 'And then I went to Asheville, North Carolina, and stayed there for a while with a family, and had dinner with them, chatted with them, and sat in the mountains, imagining what it must be like to grow up in a place like that.' Besides, she adds, 'I've never actually felt particularly English. I've always felt I was slightly maverick. My mother thinks I was swapped at birth.'

For her first major telly part, in the title role of Lynda La Plante's The Governor, the 6ft tall, 39-year-old McTeer did not have to do quite as much homework. Nevertheless, in a role that could hardly have been more different than that of Mary Jo, her flirtatious, irresponsible character in Tumbleweeds, she was no less convincing as Helen Hewitt (above), uncompromising governor of Garfield Prison. I look forward to seeing further evidence of her amazing versatility. Miss Jean Brodie, anyone?

Buzz goes it alone

One of the best jokes in the Toy Story movies was that Buzz Lightyear thought he was a Space Ranger from the Universe Protection Agency. But in the spin-off TV series currently being made by Disney Animation, he really is one!

THE MIGHTY Disney empire has never been shy about getting value for money out of its cinema hits, via merchandising, straight-to-video sequels, stage shows, ice extravaganzas and TV series. So it comes as no surprise to learn that the blockbusting animated film Toy Story, having already spawned a successful sequel, is set to get its own small-screen makeover.

Following the example set by The Little Mermaid, The Lion King and Hercules, a Toy Story spin-off is already in production and will hit US TV screens this October. It is likely to appear here, on the Disney Channel, shortly afterwards.

Entitled Star Command, the series will follow the adventures of intrepid Space Ranger Buzz Lightyear. In the two films, the joke is that, while Buzz thinks he's a space adventurer, he's just a toy. But in Star Command, Buzz will be transported to outer space to become a genuine superhero.

For once, he will actually be able to use all his special gizmos and cool gadgets as he boldly goes where no toy has gone before.

Buzz was voiced by Home Improvement star Tim Allen in his two film outings, but for the TV series that job goes to Patrick Warburton, who may be familiar to Seinfeld fans as David Puddy in the hit sitcom. Another up-and-coming project for the actor is a starring role in The Tick, a live-action series based on the cartoon superhero.

None of Buzz's pals from the two films will be transferring to the TV series, but one of his enemies will. The opening of Toy Story 2 introduced Lightyear's nemesis, The Emperor Zurg, in a Star Wars-style computer game. In the TV series, Zurg will be voiced by Wayne Knight, another Seinfeld star (he played neurotic neighbour Newman) whose voice was also heard in Toy Story 2 as Al McWhiggin. Another of Buzz's intergalactic foes will be voiced by The Terminator star Linda Hamilton.

Pixar, the company behind both films' astonishing computer graphics, will be providing the opening titles for the series, the rest of which will be animated by Disney in traditional two-dimensional format.

WATCH OUT!

● The Texas Chainsaw Massacre receives its British TV premiere on FilmFour this summer. The cult 1974 film, which caused a furore akin to that created by The Exorcist on release, tells the gruesome tale of five teens who return to the old family home and happen upon a family of chainsaw-wielding cannibals. Giving a whole new meaning to having your steak on the rare side, this film is not for the faint-hearted.

● Sky One's homegrown football drama, Dream Team, has become a national favourite. Series two ended with the infamous Wembley shooting and since then there has been a tragic plane crash killing three of the players and plenty of new faces and challenges for the team. The current series ends next month with a top-notch finale, and since businessman Prash (Ramon Tikaram, pictured right) has his eye on Harchester United, it looks like there's plenty of drama to look forward to.

● Matthew Broderick reprises his vocal role as Simba in The Lion King II: Simba's Pride, on Disney Channel in May. This sequel follows the adventures of Simba and Nala's own little lion, Kiara. Neve Campbell (of Scream fame) voices the adult Kiara and Timon and Pumbaa return, with plenty of laughs, as Kiara's 'uncles'.

Two Big Number Changes – 22nd April

April 22nd is approaching fast. On this date both new local telephone numbers and new area codes, for six geographic areas, will come into use.

- If you are making national calls to people within these Code Change Areas you will need to use the new 3 digit area code, starting 02, and the new 8 digit local number.
- If you are making local calls within a Code Change Area you must use the new 8 digit local number after 22nd April when old local numbers will no longer work.
- Remember, the changes will only affect the numbers you dial, not the cost of the call!

The changes taking place on April 22nd will affect everyone, so don't be fooled this April - make sure you're ready for them.

For further information on the changes visit our website or call Customer Services.

Will the hero kiss the heroine... or eat

The handsome prince is a dog and the hero is called Wolf – welcome to The 10th Kingdom, Sky One's amazing new fantasy drama which, as Daphne Lockyer discovers, is a production of truly epic proportions ...

THE VILLAGE square in Bean Town is alive with scurrying trolls. Bean Town, by the way, is actually the Ecomusée in Alsace, France, a quaint medieval village attraction preserved intact for posterity and visiting tourists. But for today, at least, when its doors are opened to The 10th Kingdom film crew, it is like entering the realms of folklore.

Wherever you look you see pointy ears, deeply lined foreheads, webbed hands, fanged mouths and dreadlock hairdos. And, no, we're not talking about the crew.

'Trolls this way!' calls Herbie Wise, one of the two directors responsible for steering what promises to be a thrilling flight of fantasy on to our TV screens. On demand, an army of what look like post-grunge gnomes march towards the camera.

What the locals make of it all is hard to imagine. But it's fair to assume that they have welcomed the multi-million pound Anglo-American production with open arms, since roughly 400 of them have signed up to work as extras. The hugely ambitious project was filmed in three countries – France, Austria and Britain – and apart from the establishing shots of New York, the scenes set in the Big Apple were filmed at Pinewood Studios and on location in London.

'It is really beautiful here,' says Wise. 'And I guess the place does take on a rather surreal quality now that we've moved into town. But everybody seems really happy to see us.'

Viewers, too, will no doubt be just as delighted to see the ten hour-long episodes that make up the epic. Billed as a 21st-century fairy tale, it's a journey through a bizarre netherworld in which the weird and wonderful are the order of the day.

In this strange alternative universe you'll meet the wicked Queen and a talking dog (if that's not enough, he can dance, too) who was once a fairy tale prince. There's also a romantic hero, Wolf, who's in danger of becoming – yes, you've guessed it – a wolf and eating the heroine rather than kissing her. And while we're on the subject of the heroine, did we mention that at one point her hair grows to 50ft?

Confused? Over to scriptwriter Simon Moore, who has created and co-produced her?

the series. Moore, an Emmy-winner for his work on the highly acclaimed TV adaptation of Gulliver's Travels, assures us that all will become clear when we tune in.

'Think Cinderella, Snow White, Rapunzel and every other story that began with "Once upon a time ...". Add a little bit of The Wizard of Oz and The Hobbit and you're in the right area,' Moore says. 'But we've tried to create something that is also a fantasy for our times with modern morals, humour and themes.'

Drawing heavily on the fables of the Brothers Grimm, our story is set in The Nine Kingdoms, a mythical European land, but starts in present-day New York – the 10th Kingdom – 200 years later.

A wicked Queen (Dianne Wiest), who has escaped from prison hellbent on vengeance, turns Prince Wendell (Daniel Lapaine) into a golden retriever. The princely pup then escapes through a vortex into modern-day Central Park.

He enlists the help of Virginia (Kimberly Williams) and her father (John Larroquette) to go back to the Kingdoms and help restore him to power – and human form.

But their path is far from smooth and there are adventures aplenty with fairy tale characters in all their various forms – funny, downright scary, young and old – whilst all the time they are pursued by killer trolls and a very sinister huntsman (Rutger Hauer).

'At its heart it's the tale of a journey in which none of the main characters will end up where they began, either literally or metaphorically,' says Williams. 'It's about a voyage of self-discovery.'

That voyage promises to be both hilarious and spooky, thanks to Moore's intricate and innovative story and some ground-breaking special effects, which harness the latest computer-generated technology.

In the end, though, just like the fairy tales of bygone days, it's the good old-fashioned story telling that counts.

NEW SERIES

SKY ONE

THE 10TH KINGDOM
FROM SUNDAY 16TH, 7.00PM

Kimberly Williams plays Virginia

When we first meet the heroine, Virginia, she's a waitress in New York. But all that is about to change as she becomes embroiled in an adventure that takes her on a remarkable and enlightening odyssey.

'When I was sent the script it was like receiving candy,' the 28-year-old American actress says. 'I couldn't put it down.'

Williams, best known, perhaps, for her role in the movie Father of the Bride says that The 10th Kingdom reminded her of one of her favourite films from childhood.

'When I was growing up I loved The Wizard of Oz,' she says. 'And so I identified with this character, and the truth is I always wanted to be a girl in a fairy tale.'

'Playing Virginia meant leaving home for months but I figured I'd probably never be offered another part where I could be

Dorothy and Alice in Wonderland all rolled into one. It was irresistible.'

She saw parallels between her own life and Virginia's. 'Both of us were in unfamiliar places, experiencing new things, some of them wonderful, some of them terrible. But in the end I really enjoyed myself. Like Virginia, I think my life was enriched immeasurably by the experience. I'll never forget it.'

● See our fantastic new interview with Kimberly Williams on the Cable Guide website: www.cableguide.co.uk

John Larroquette plays Tony

Virginia's father, Tony, is a New York janitor who is also drawn into the fantastic, surreal journey through the Kingdoms. Born and raised in New Orleans, Larroquette started his career working in theatre in Colorado and later moved to Los Angeles, where he has become one of the biggest names in US television.

He had his own sitcom, The John Larroquette Show, and is a four-time

Emmy-winner for his role as assistant district attorney Dan Fielding in the drama Night Court.

Larroquette also has a host of film credits to his name, including Star Trek III: The Search for Spock and Richie Rich, with Macaulay Culkin. He also narrated The Texas Chain Saw Massacre.

'My character is drawn into the adventure because of the intense protective instincts he has towards his daughter,' Larroquette explains. 'But like all the major characters he has lessons to learn along the way. This is just fantastic story telling and I mean that in every sense of the word. It has every human emotion in it. It has humour and pathos and it's an amazing story.'

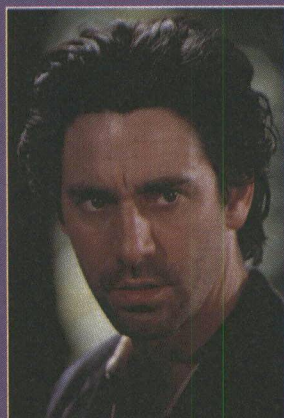

He also loved the surreal element to the tale. 'What a blast,' he enthuses. 'There were days when I'd be surrounded by trolls, talking dogs and evil huntsmen. And I'd be thinking, "They say life in America is wacky!"'

Scott Cohen plays Wolf

New Yorker Cohen plays the romantic lead, a character known simply as Wolf, who becomes a fellow traveller to Virginia and Tony.

'He's a man struggling to come to terms with himself and with the bestial side of his nature. In his case this means that he literally has a tendency to turn into a wolf,' says 34-year-old Cohen.

'It was intriguing because on the one hand he is a neo-man, a good guy who wants to do the right thing and is in love with Virginia. But he has this dark side that he's constantly trying to suppress. I found that combination fascinating. I thought it was something that all men can probably relate to a little in their dealings with women.'

Cohen started out as a circus clown and then switched to acting, appearing in films like Private Parts and The Mambo Kings. He has also appeared in many TV shows.

He lives in New York with his wife, Ana, and their four-year-old son Liam.

Though the drama is really an adult fairy tale, Cohen looks forward to sharing the experience with his son, when he's old enough. 'Hopefully, he'll agree with me that it's a wonderful story that's been brilliantly told. I'll let you know when the time comes.'

Walt's

With two hit Disney movies under her belt, actress Kathryn Beaumont retired at the tender age of 14. Hilary Bonner meets the face behind the voice of Wendy in the timeless animated classic Peter Pan

was a big star, touring the world to attend premieres of two of the most famous animated films ever made.

British-born Kathryn Beaumont was a child actress in London when she was spotted and put under contract by the Hollywood studio MGM. 'My mother and I travelled to California when I was eight,'

S ALICE in Alice in Wonderland and Wendy in Peter Pan, she was able to live out a little girl's dreams. She worked with the legendary Walt Disney and she recalls. 'It was a huge move to make, particularly then, but I think my mother realized what a great opportunity I was being given. I was under contract to MGM for a couple of years. I don't think I did very much, but I was at the MGM school with Elizabeth Taylor.'

'Then, with my MGM contract nearly over, I was auditioned for the voice of Alice by Walt Disney himself. He was looking for a little girl with an English accent who would not sound too foreign to American audiences, and he thought that I fitted the bill.'

Kathryn also looked the part. Petite and fluffy blonde, she became more than the voice of Alice – the character was also modelled around her, since in those days animated films were made by basing the characters and drawings on the real-life actors involved. They took much longer to make than conventional feature films – Kathryn worked on Alice for two years, from when she was 10 until she was 12, and was then immediately given the part of Wendy in Peter Pan, which took a further two years to make.

She acted out on film almost every scene of Alice in Wonderland, because it all revolved around her character, and every scene in Peter Pan in which Wendy appears – including, of course, the flying scenes in which Wendy Darling and her brothers are whisked off to Never Never Land by Peter (main picture) and Tinkerbell.

THE DISNEY CHANNEL

PETER PAN
EASTER SUNDAY 4.00PM

'I was involved with all the creative processes,' she recalls.

'I used to be at the storyboard readings when the animators discussed how they'd draw the characters. Then the sequences would be filmed, usually using one camera and a simple backdrop.'

The flying scenes did present Kathryn with a problem or two. 'I have always had a fear of heights,' she admits. 'Basically, I was strapped around the middle and hung from the ceiling so the animators could study my movements. A lot of children might have thought "What fun!" and just swung around and enjoyed it. I didn't. I had to be coaxed.

'Fortunately we had a wonderful dancer working on the film who taught me how to move my body and give myself a sense of weightlessness.

'He used to have me taken up just a little way, and then a little more, until I was dangling from a very long way up without really realising it.'

Like most of the big Hollywood studios, Disney operated according to very strict rules concerning child performers.

'I was always chaperoned by my mother and I had a set number of hours of schoolwork to go through every day,' Kathryn recalls. 'I would be taken to a quiet spot to study, and it would be to and fro all day.'

Following the completion of Disney's Peter Pan in 1952 (when she was 14), Kathryn returned to school full-time and would never make another movie.

Instead, she went on to college and then became a primary school teacher in California. Almost 50 years later, she insists she has never hankered after what might have been.

'I always enjoyed teaching and I had a rewarding career,' says Kathryn, who's now retired. 'I wouldn't have missed making those wonderful films for anything, but it was just something I did when I was a kid. The money I earned was invested for me and most of it went on my education. I never regretted not continuing a career in showbusiness and I never made any attempt to get back into it. I don't think I ever had the motivation, to tell the truth.'

Although she left the world of films, Kathryn never returned to England. She stayed in Southern California, married a swimming pool manufacturer and taught six and seven-year-olds in Californian schools for almost 40 years.

Generally, her extraordinary childhood was not even known about in the schools where she worked – but it did surface on the odd occasion.

'Once a little girl brought her mother to me in school and asked me if I had been Alice in Alice in Wonderland. When I admitted that I had, she turned to her mother and said, "There, I told you so!" Apparently, the two of them had been to see a re-release of the film and when Alice started to speak the little girl had said, "That's my teacher!"

'After that, everybody in the school knew, but it was a five-minute wonder. The children soon forgot all about it. I was very quickly just their teacher again.'

But Kathryn did use the knowledge she acquired during her Disney years in her teaching. 'I would sometimes get my class making a short, basic animated film. I would get them to map out a story in which one simple thing happened, then we would storyboard the idea with pictures painted on a simple background, and photograph the characters with a one-stop camera and cut out their arms and legs and fix them in different positions. The children always loved it. I don't know if any of them ever went on to be animators, but I like to think that they did.'

Kathryn did not see Peter Pan again for many years after its original release. She says she is amazed at how the film of the famous James M Barrie fairy tale still lives on and, like the little boy Peter himself, never seems to age.

'But when I watch it again nowadays, I can see how good it is,' she says. 'The quality and all the things that we took for granted at the time are what have made it last, I suppose. I am very proud now to have been involved with it. It came from that golden era of Disney films and I suppose the secret of its lasting attraction is that the story has such universal appeal.'

'Keeping the child within us is a lovely thought – we all need to do that.'

Peter Pan Competition

With a little luck, you can capture the magic of Disney's Peter Pan by winning this beautiful limited edition, framed sericel (above) from the movie.

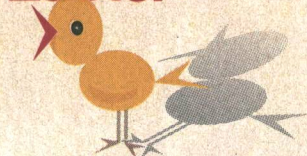

Ten runners-up will each win a Disney Channel goody bag, worth at least £50. To enter, just answer this question:

What is the last name of Wendy, Michael and John?

Darling
Carling
Harling

Send your answer on a postcard with your name, address and date of birth to: Cable Guide/Peter Pan competition, PO Box 2176, London W1A 5TV. Closing date for entries is 30 April. See full competition rules on page 215.

FAMILY

Words: Angie Errigo

RESPONDING to complaints that films place too much emphasis on violence and sleaze, film-makers began to take desperate parents – and their cash – more seriously in the Nineties. Studios created new divisions to develop entertainment for the family. The effort yielded a nice diversity of movies, from Free Willy and wonderful new adaptations of classic novels The Secret Garden and A Little Princess, to whizz bang spin-offs of comics and TV fads like Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and Mighty Morphin Power Rangers. Despite maintaining a firm grip on the cross-generational box office with its consistent output of blockbusters, Disney is no longer the only family specialist in Tinseltown. Movies you can deposit the sprogs in front of on a Saturday are still outnumbered by films for the dominant consumers – adolescents and twentysomethings – but quality films adapted from books, fairy tales, TV, electronic games (catch that Pokémon!) and even The Bible have been on the increase. This month's Front Row premieres include four unreservedly recommended treats (and one of them is from Disney), with something to suit you and all your little couch potatoes, too.

MIGHTY JOE YOUNG

If you like monkey business in the jungle, nobody does it better than Disney. A remake of a 1949 film, this combines an environmental message with humour and thrills. Two orphans grow up together in Africa. Joe is a 15-foot gorilla whose mother was killed by poachers. His constant companion Jill Young (Charlize Theron) saw her scientist mother die trying to save the gorillas, and has kept her childhood promise to protect Joe. Twenty years on, zoologist Gregg (Bill Paxton) persuades Jill that Joe needs to be safeguarded in a conservation park. But the same baddies who orphaned Joe and Jill will stop at nothing to capture Joe and exploit him. And since a gorilla movie has to have a rampage, Joe obliges with an exciting dash for freedom. What makes this magical is the remarkably 'real' Joe – the work of special effects make-up whizz Rick Baker.

THE MIGHTY

Based on the teen novel Freak The Mighty, this uplifting story of friendship and imagination centres on tiny Kevin (Kieran Culkin), a physically disabled genius, who buddies up with the hulking misfit boy-next-door, Max (Elden Henson). With Kevin perched on Max's shoulders, the duo embark on knightly quests through the city, outwitting bullies and inspiring the 'hood with their heroics. Charming, funny, and deeply affecting, it boasts an impressive cast of grown-ups (including Sharon Stone and Gillian Anderson) boosting adult appeal. Give it a chance, and have the tissues handy for the moving outcome.

THE PRINCE OF EGYPT

You still can't beat The Bible for the greatest stories ever told, and none is more epic than that of Moses and the Hebrews' exodus from slavery in Egypt. After launching their new animation studio in style with Antz, DreamWorks' founders Steven Spielberg, Jeffrey Katzenberg and David Geffen spared no expense in revisiting The Ten Commandments and gave rivals Disney further cause for anxiety with this spectacular undertaking. Assets include a stellar voice cast – including Val Kilmer, Ralph Fiennes, Michelle Pfeiffer, Sandra Bullock, Jeff Goldblum and Steve Martin – and some sensational, state-of-the-art animation in dramatically thrilling set pieces that depict the plagues, miracles and wonders of Ancient Egypt. There are also some terrific musical highlights from composer Hans Zimmer and songwriter Stephen Schwartz. (Among the speaking cast, by the way, Fiennes and Pfeiffer do their own singing, and very well, too.) Admittedly, the reverent approach and generally serious tone make this a bit worthy to captivate undeveloped attention spans. As the sophisticated wit and violent element in Antz suggested, DreamWorks' brand of animation is more apt and engaging for adolescents than young children.

THE RUGRATS MOVIE

Nickelodeon's popular cartoon tots made a winning move to the big screen in this delightful feature-length adventure, which adds the comic talents of Whoopi Goldberg and Tim Curry to the regular voice cast. Bald hero-in-a-nappy Tommy Pickles and his posse are thrown into a hectic, funny and tuneful escapade when mum Didi and dad Stu bring home a new baby brother from what Tommy calls 'the hopsickle'. Since the baby cries all the time, Tommy thinks he's broken and decides to return him for one that works. The whole gang set off with the infant, get lost in the woods, and learn some lessons about life, friendship and family along the way. All the favourites are swept up in non-stop antics: bossy terror Angelica, fraidy-cat Chuckie, unflappable twins Phil and Lil and, of course, gaga Grandpa and faithful dog Spike. The clever appeal of The Rugrats is that creators Arlene Klasky and Simpsons veteran Gabor Csupo based the characters and their explorations on their own childhood memories. They really succeed in capturing the mysteries of the world through the eyes and ears of little children, making this as amusing for parents as it is fun for the small fry.

PALM trees swish lazily in the breeze as the far-away thwack of a golf ball disturbs the silence. Welcome to the Hotel Paradiso, the setting for the holiday drama Sunburn, offering five-star luxury in the beautiful resort of Albavor on the coast of the western Algarve.

As the Janus holiday reps, played by Michelle Collins and Rebecca Callard, greet more punters in this sun-drenched paradise, you could be forgiven for making a mental note to pop into the travel agent tomorrow.

Except that the town of Albavor doesn't exist, being created for television from locations in various pretty little towns along the coast. And the Paradiso is actually Le Meridien Penina, whose golf course has been home to the Portuguese Open for the past two years. In fact, a total of ten hotels make up the three that you see on screen.

And in any case, stepping around cameras, over cables or being manoeuvred out of the way by an assistant director because you're in an actor's sightline might be diverting for a day or so, but it could get rather wearing over an entire vacation. As location manager Vanessa De Souza explains: 'Everybody tries very hard to be accommodating to us, but people pay good money to be on holiday and so there's always going to be a conflict of interest. We're treated with a mixture of curiosity and irritation.'

'Possibly my trickiest job of the entire shoot was during one episode when George Layton, who plays head rep Alan Brooks, is kidnapped and ends up in a cow shed. I'm proud to say I found the dream cow shed for George – in the middle of nowhere, belonging to a farmer who had no idea who we were and didn't speak a word of English.'

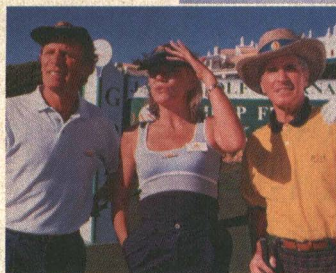

But the main headache for the crew, apart from trying to film around two weeks of solid rain in October – not ideal for a drama based around sun, sea and sand – was the 'amanhã, amanhã' attitude.

'The phrase was always, "Yes, no problem" and then we'd arrive and discover that they weren't ready for us or that planning permission, needed even to film on a beach, hadn't been sought,' explains De Souza.

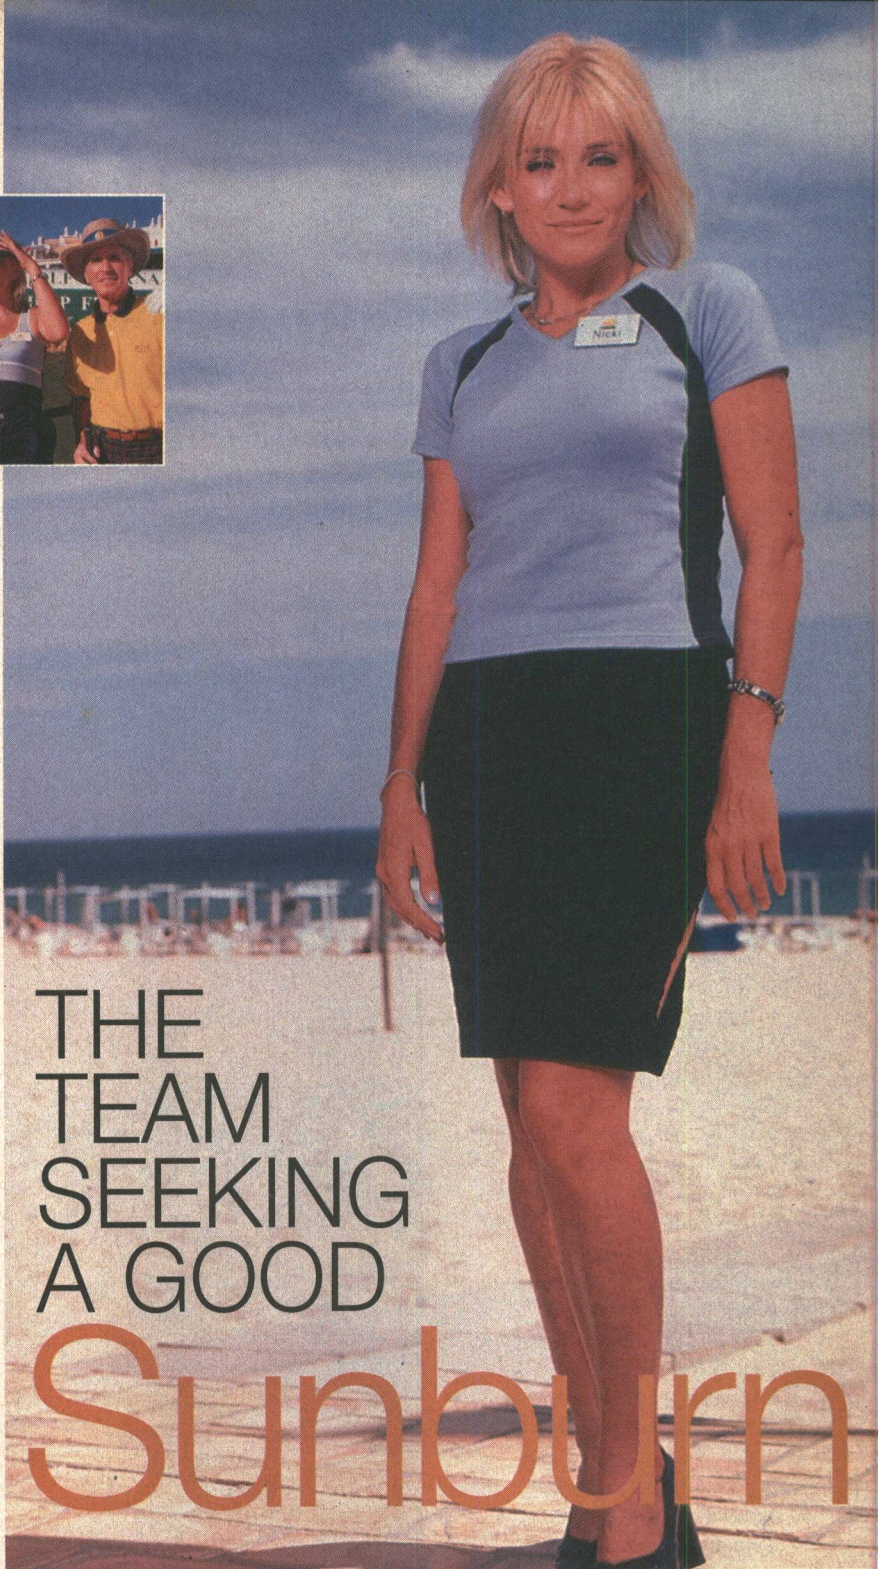

During the first series, filmed in Cyprus, both squeaky-clean super-rep Nicki (Collins) and junior rep Greg (James Buller), had love affairs with two of the resort's 'locals'. But research later revealed that viewers weren't too wild about foreign characters hogging screen time, so you're not likely to find anyone falling for the charms of the Portuguese during this eight-part series, despite the undeniable attractions of the setting.

With its backdrop of mountains, lush vegetation, pastel-coloured houses and jaw-droppingly beautiful coastline, the Algarve provides a dramatic contrast to the bleached-out look of Cyprus, one reason why Sunburn creator Mike Bullen, of award-winning Cold Feet fame, was keen to film here.

That said, its language can hardly be described as the most romantic in the world, never mind the fact it's one of the most difficult to understand. 'It's very hard to learn and very strange-sounding – almost like Russian,' Collins explains. 'After being here four months all I can say is thank you – "obrigada!"'

Will & Grace land

It's a big hit in America, and now Will & Grace is winning fans over here. Nick Griffiths visited the set of the latest US sitcom to cross the pond

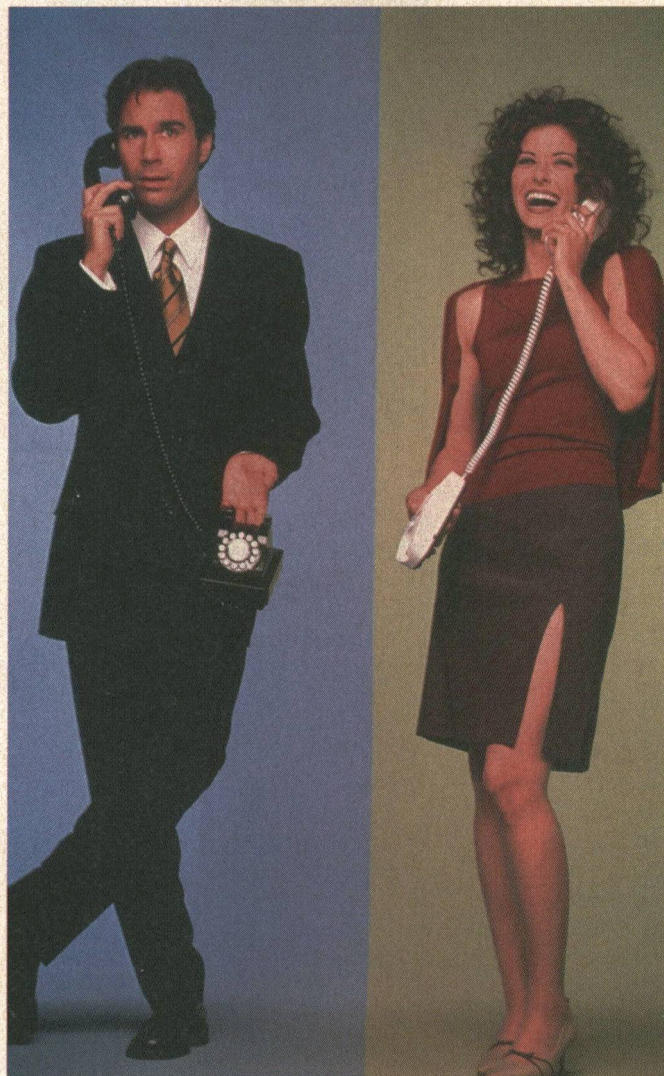

THE WORLD of the sitcom is a whole different ball game in America. A trip to the studios where Will & Grace is filmed reveals not just a collection of sets, but a sprawling, self-sufficient township where everyone's far too busy working to notice the presence of a visiting group of British journalists.

The show, which debuted in America in 1998 and whose first series gets another showing on Living from this month, is being taken very seriously. So seriously that, at the end of the first season, the NBC network gave the four main cast members a Porsche each – the sort of thing you'd more readily expect to happen to the cast of Friends.

The characters are these: smooth, upstanding lawyer Will is best friends with Grace, a mildly neurotic interior designer. Then there is Will's friend Jack, an eccentric extrovert, and Grace's assistant Karen, a monied snob. Will and Jack, incidentally, are gay – Jack noticeably so. And the four of them do sitcom things.

In the season two episode I watch being filmed, Will and Grace find themselves inadvertently involved in staging a toddlers' play for a community group, while Jack helps Karen to donate just a fraction of her wardrobe to a jumble sale for the homeless.

It all sounds fairly

'Does this mean we're engaged ...?' Platonic friends Will (Eric McCormack) and Grace (Debra Messing) traditional on paper, but Will & Grace has taken off in a big way. It won the 1999 People's Choice Award for Favourite New Comedy Series, is among America's top 40 highest-rating shows, and attracted Golden Globe nominations for three of the show's stars – Eric McCormack (Will), Debra Messing (Grace) and Sean Hayes (Jack) – with only Megan Mullally (Karen) missing out.

McCormack tries to sum up the appeal: 'It has tenaciously smart writing, mixed with some very lucky casting. The four of us really gel well – we have a great time together. And there's the fact that Jimmy Burrows has stayed around and shaped it.'

Will & Grace was created by Max Mutchnick and David Kohan, who put together Dream On, and is directed by James

PHOTOS: LIVING

Four-play: Debra Messing, Eric McCormack, Megan Mullally and Sean Hayes star in the hit US sitcom Will & Grace

Burrows, sitcom legend and long-time director of Cheers, Frasier and Friends.

'This is the first time a gay character [Will] has been portrayed as a good human being, not as a gay,' says Burrows, with another take on the show's success.

'Plus it's a whole different brand of humour. You have the outrageous gay person, Jack, who's legitimised by Will, who's a gay person with dignity; then you have Karen, an outrageous woman, given credence by the fact that Grace likes her. Here's the great thing, something I learned from Cheers: Sam Malone liked Cliff, the crazy mailman, and if your lead character likes the crazy person and believes in them, your audience does too.'

So has Burrows discovered the magic formula for creating a hit sitcom? Sadly not, he says. 'That's like trying to capture lightning in a bottle.' You really have to envy these Americans – even their press interviews are full of smart one-liners.

WEEKDAYS FROM

TALK about the tiny person who has turned Helen Baxendale's life upside down, and the Cold Feet star begins to glow. 'I'm really enjoying being a mum,' she says. 'It's fantastic, even though it is the toughest role in the world.'

Her daughter Nell is now 18 months old and, like any toddler, demands a lot of attention from her normally unruffled mother. 'She's a bit of a handful,' confesses Helen, 'and I must admit that it's absolutely knacker.' Having recently finished filming An Ordinary Decent Criminal with Kevin Spacey, and with filming for a third series of Cold Feet starting any day, Helen admits that juggling a successful acting career with motherhood is not easy.

'But at least the way I work is in intense six-month bursts,' she says. 'I'm lucky enough to have a mum and dad to help, and my boyfriend David is very good with Nellie.'

Helen is enjoying motherhood so much that she would like another child – but 'not this year, maybe next'. Marriage, however, is not immediately on the cards for the actress and her long-term partner, director David Elliott. 'We'll get married one day, but there's no great rush,' she says. 'Anyway, I've been married on TV so many times, and worn such beautiful dresses, I feel I've done the big frock thing.'

On the subject of TV, Helen, 29, is unperturbed by the fact that, although she has appeared in such strong television dramas as Truth or Dare and An Unsuitable Job for a Woman, as well as three series of Cardiac Arrest, it is Cold Feet, closely followed by Friends, with which she is most associated.

'No, honestly, it is very, very nice. I thoroughly enjoy the whole set-up of Cold Feet now. We all know each other – the cast, the crew, everyone. It is a very clued-up programme and it's a comedy drama that works. What I most like about it is the fact that it has not stayed still. The first series was funny and light, and the second series got a bit dark. It's going to be fun because my character Rachel is now married to Adam (James Nesbitt, top right with Baxendale), so that takes it into a whole new area.'

For those who can't wait for the third season of madness and mayhem in the lives of the three Manchester-based couples, ITV2 is running a Complete Cold Feet season this month.

Helen, meanwhile, is very excited about the new series, which will air this Autumn. 'To me, Cold Feet is quite real because the characters in it are full of contradictions and that's so true of life,' she says. 'If you really like someone, then you invariably behave like a prat. As you get older, you get more banal and less prone to romantic outbursts. Though I'd love it if somebody said to me: "Be at Heathrow in half an hour ..."'

CABLE & WIRELESS

Didn't you used to be in Kojak?

Classic TV series like Batman, Starsky and Hutch and Kojak made household names of their stars – but what happens when the show's over and you're forever associated with one role?

Interviews: Ivan Waterman

Fringe benefits: Henry Darrow made his name as The High Chaparral's Manolito

COULD this be the fabled Garden of Eternal Youth? You'd be forgiven for thinking so as, one by one, the cult TV stars of yesteryear file into the grounds of the Sunset Marquis Hotel, Los Angeles, to chat about their places in small-screen history.

They've assembled to do a spot of plugging for Granada Plus, and time stands still as a silver-haired, svelte Adam West, looking nothing like his 71 years, saunters in to be interviewed.

'Gee,' murmurs the former Batman icon, 'where would you like me to start?' Indeed. You half expect a cry of 'Holy Mortality!' from the latterday charmer as he settles down to outline exactly what he's been up to since he stopped bounding around Gotham City in his tights as the Caped Crusader with the Boy Wonder in tow.

Still a cult figure around the world, West has made countless television and film appearances since Batman, yet nothing has quite put him back in the public eye.

If you blinked you'd have missed him in the black comedy Drop Dead Gorgeous, while more recently he played George Burns's butler in the biopic Everything's George – though that experience was, apparently, equally unmemorable. 'I made that, did I?' he asks. 'Was I good?'

Now a grandfather, West fondly recalls how he once caused a pile-up in New York by jumping out of a Cadillac on Fifth Avenue in his Batman regalia. And then there was the time Vincent Price caused pandemonium by starting a raw egg fight on the Batman set. But after 120 episodes of being ZAPPED and KAPOWed, the show's star didn't have the last laugh.

'Batman destroyed my career for years. There was nothing I could do. I am still struggling,' reveals West, who now lives in Idaho with his French-born wife, Marcelle. 'I was also this role model for American youth. I couldn't turn up drunk ... I mean, Batman, sozzled - forget it! But I also learned that it is no good sitting around feeling sorry for yourself.'

There were other faces you'd imagined you'd never see again - including Henry Darrow, better known as Manolito from The High Chaparral; Antonio Fargas, alias Starsky and Hutch's Huggy Bear; and Kevin Dobson, aka Sergeant Crocker of Kojak fame. They were in agreement on one undeniable aspect of their ultra-long careers. They each owed it all to playing one character, but are still suffering from the dreaded showbiz disease of typecasting some 25 years on.

Fifty-seven-year-old Kevin Dobson talks fondly of his lollipop-sucking boss in Kojak, Telly Savalas, who died six years ago. After playing the long-suffering Bobby Crocker in the classic cop series, Dobson made a string of TV movies and had a regular spot on the soap Knots Landing. 'You know, I swear I saw Telly Savalas somewhere the other day,' says Dobson, most recently seen in the TV series F/X. 'It looked just like him. I just froze - we were in a classic and Telly was my friend.'

Antonio Fargas also moved from cops to soaps after his role as Huggy Bear in Starsky and Hutch. 'I am proud of that role,' says the 53-year-old. 'But I do cringe when I see Starsky and Hutch today in the sense that I was raw and new. I sensed it would be difficult when the show was over, so I moved back to New York and did a soap for two years.'

'I still have this dream of owning a little bed and breakfast place in the Caribbean and taking a fishing boat out. I love my roots - and the sun.' More recently, Fargas has been a regular visitor to the UK. He worked on a BBC drama with Ian McShane in 1995 and has appeared on stage with his old buddy David Soul. 'I'm a survivor,' he says. 'And I still like people.'

ACADEMY
FILM AWARDS

THE announcement of last year's British Academy Film Award nominations revealed a record-breaking performance by a film from a British director, as John Madden's Shakespeare in Love was named in 16 categories. And that feat was very nearly matched this year by another home-grown talent, Sam Mendes, whose darkly comic suburban drama American Beauty has attracted no less than 14 British Academy Film Award nominations. For Mendes, a British theatre director who has made good in Hollywood, this followed an impressive eight Oscar nominations for his film, which stars Kevin Spacey and Annette Bening as an unhappily married American couple.

Indeed, this year's British Academy Film Awards, which are being held at London's Odeon cinema, Leicester Square, look certain to be dominated by directors and actors from this side of the Atlantic.

Trailing in the wake of the annual Oscars shindig, the ceremony – which this year can be seen on Sky Premier for the first time – provides a welcome opportunity to redress any perceived American bias at the previous month's Stateside film jamboree. Because no matter how often the announcement of the Oscar nominations prompts the rallying cry 'the British are coming!', the dishing out of the gongs usually confirms the suspicion that, as far as the Academy for Motion Picture Arts and Sciences is concerned, charity begins at home.

Indeed, the annual lists of respective Oscar and British Academy Film Award winners can be so dramatically different that, on some occasions, one could be forgiven for thinking they came from different years.

In 1998, for instance, James Cameron declared himself 'king of the world' as Titanic swept all before it at the Academy Awards with a staggering 11 Oscars, including Best Picture and Best Director.

At the British Academy ceremony, Nil by Mouth, The Full Monty and Mrs Brown were honoured while Titanic sank without a trace.

Once again, British talent is well represented across the board this year (see below), with five nominations each going to East Is East and Mike Leigh's Gilbert and Sullivan biopic Topsy Turvy. And in the acting categories, the likes of Maggie Smith, Emily Watson, Michael Caine, Timothy Spall, Jim Broadbent and Jude Law will also be flying the flag.

Amid the annual talking up of the health of the British film industry, however, it should be noted that this year's list of nominations for the Orange Audience Award – voted for by arguably the most important people in the industry, the cinemagoers themselves, and based on UK box-office performance – are almost exclusively for American films.

GET THE FULL MOVIE STAR TREATMENT!

To celebrate this month's Orange British Academy Film Awards, Orange and Cable Guide are offering you the chance to appear on the silver screen!

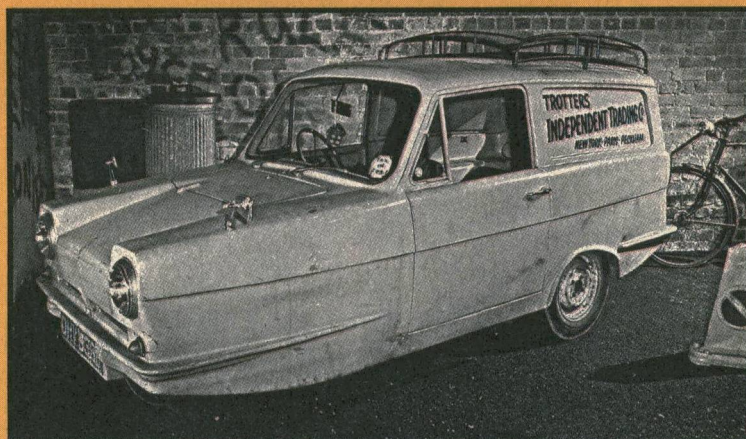

orange™

One lucky winner, plus guest, will get the full movie star treatment for four days, including the opportunity (for the winner only) to be an extra in a major movie production. In keeping with your new-found star status, you will be taken to and from the set in a stretch limousine, and will dine at The Ivy, the exclusive London restaurant that's the perfect place for starspotting. The prize also includes a tour of the Museum of the Moving Image on London's South Bank, and four nights' bed-and-breakfast accommodation at a first-class London hotel, plus the round-trip rail fare to London.

TO BE IN WITH A CHANCE OF WINNING THIS FABULOUS PRIZE FROM ORANGE, ANSWER THIS QUESTION: WHICH ACTRESS WON A BRITISH ACADEMY FILM AWARD LAST YEAR FOR HER STARRING ROLE IN ELIZABETH?

HOW TO ENTER:

Write down the answer to the question above, plus your name and address, on a postcard and send it to: Cable Guide/Orange competition, PO Box 2176, London W1A 5TW. You can also enter by visiting the Cable Guide website at www.cableguide.co.uk. Closing date 30 April 2000. Entrants must be aged 18 or over. Full competition rules on page 215. The prize must be taken at a date to be arranged for this year.

The Mystery Man

Alfred Hitchcock, who died 20 years ago this month, ranks among the most influential film-makers of all time. And, thanks to his skill at self-promotion, he remains one of the most recognisable

TWENTY years after his death, Alfred Hitchcock remains arguably the most famous director of all time. Charlie Chaplin is known for having created a screen character, not for his part in developing the vocabulary of the movies. Walt Disney became famous as a mogul, production head and a brand, while Orson Welles was recognisable more for his acting roles than his directorial efforts. But Hitch courted celebrity, becoming a household face and voice through jokey introductions to the Alfred Hitchcock Presents TV series and making cameo appearances in his films. For this bullfrog of a man, who never disguised his east London accent, fame was obviously an important life goal.

What is less certain is that this drive was because he saw that becoming a celebrity was essential if he wished to control his career. The new Sky Cinema documentary Dial H for Hitchcock suggests that, though he had hits in the Twenties (The Lodger, Blackmail), Thirties

(The 39 Steps, The Lady Vanishes) and Forties (Shadow of a Doubt, Notorious), it wasn't until the Fifties and early Sixties that he really attained the power in the industry to deliver a string of masterpieces: Strangers on a Train, Rear Window, Vertigo, Psycho and The Birds. From the documentary, it emerges that a significant part of the Hitchcock method was down to his lifelong collaborator Alma Reville, whom he married in the Twenties and who remained a key influence on the planning, writing and editing of his pictures.

Rebecca, Hitchcock's first Hollywood film, won the Best Picture Oscar in 1940, but the award was collected by domineering producer David O. Selznick. In a typical Academy oversight, Hitch never won a Best Director Oscar for any individual film, which prompted him to deliver the shortest ever speech ('Thank you ... very much') when they finally gave in and handed him the Irving G. Thalberg Memorial gong. Part of the problem may have been that the Oscars didn't, at that time, take the thriller genre very seriously. But it may be that Hitch, whose films have a perverse streak that is still startling, was always too unsettling a film-maker to win official accolades. Indeed, it wasn't until younger, film-literate critics like François Truffaut or Peter Bogdanovich started writing about Hitchcock that he really got the credit he deserved. In the documentary, a parade of modern film-makers – including Robert (Short Cuts) Altman, Brian (Carrie) De Palma, Wes (A Nightmare on Elm Street) Craven and Jonathan (The Silence of the Lambs) Demme – line up to applaud and analyse the Master, demonstrating that his lessons were well-taught.

Even rarer than a director who is also a celebrity is the commercial film-maker who is also a major artist. Hitch hit on a popular genre, the suspense film, and demonstrated that it could accommodate escapist entertainment, such as North by Northwest, and probing art movies, such as Vertigo.

Among his greatest films are Notorious and Rear Window, which manage to be the sort of slick thrillers a mass audience will still queue up to see, deliver the type of star power Hollywood thrives on, and have edge-of-the-seat plots, while remaining challenging pieces of avant-garde cinema. Not all the films are on this level, and he made several major missteps. But even his oddities (Rope, Marnie) are worth watching, and the body of work leaves a very large chalk outline which film-makers are still copying from, reassessing and trying to puzzle out.

MARK LAMARR

What's your favourite movie?

The Rebel, the Tony Hancock film. It's much better than most of his work on television. It's got a perfect backdrop for comedy – pretentious art. It's weird because it's also quite a hated film. I think it's the best thing Hancock ever did.

What's your first movie memory?

I remember being taken out of a Disney film scared as a kid. I think it was Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. I like those Disney animated films from that era.

They're so dark and gothic and there are actually a lot of bits that children should never see.

Have you a favourite film from the Fifties or Sixties?

From that era my favourite film has got to be My Fair Lady [1964]. People get really annoyed because I'm always doing Alfred P. Doolittle and singing With a Little Bit o' Luck.

What about your favourite actor?

Probably the person I want to be most is Robert Mitchum – but he was not much of an actor except, of course, in Night of the Hunter. That's probably the best thing he ever did.

What's your scariest movie moment?

It could well be Night of the Hunter. That bit when the kids are hiding in the hay loft and they see Robert Mitchum on the horizon on his horse singing his Bible song.

MY MOST MEMORABLE MOMENT

Ross Biddiscombe speaks to Eurosport Champ Cars commentator Ben Edwards

I was commentating on an international touring cars event in Magny-Cours near Paris in the summer of 1996 when the strangest thing happened to me. Myself and a Eurosport colleague drove to the circuit on the Friday night before the event just to get a car park pass for the next day's race. We already had our personal passes, but we wanted to get the car in close rather than park half a mile away and walk in. 'Unfortunately, we came up against a real jobsworth at the perimeter gate who wouldn't let us through to get the pass. So, being a little tired and fed up, I dodged around him and sped off in my car around the perimeter road. I was followed by a security car and everything got a little unfriendly after that. 'Although I got the car pass, the next day I had another pass problem and actually got thrown out of the circuit! I only got back in one hour before the broadcast, so I was in the perfect mood to commentate on an exciting motor racing event. 'Luckily, I don't go to Magny-Cours these days as I commentate mostly on the American Champ Cars series and, thankfully, the USA is one place where this kind of incident never happens!'

LEEDS UNITED V ARSENAL
SKY SPORTS 1 SUNDAY 16TH APRIL 3.00PM - LIVE

Next best thing

Leeds may not win the Premier League title, but a Champions' League place beckons. By Nick Callow

DAVID O'LEARY has been waiting for this match since last December. His young Leeds side (whose Harry Kewell is pictured) had just been handed a footballing lesson in their 2-0 defeat at Arsenal and were being written out of the Premier League title race.

Now the Leeds manager, who spent over 20 years at Highbury as a player, aims to show what he and his players have learnt since then.

'Arsenal were magnificent that day and showed the difference between a young, learning side and another packed with senior international stars,' O'Leary said. 'But I have always said that we cannot win the title this season and I am just pleased with the excellent progress we've made.'

'That said, I always knew we would have an opportunity to take them on again back at Elland Road. We showed when we beat them at the end of last season that we can compete, battle and succeed at this level.'

O'Leary is less mindful of the talk among Arsenal supporters that he is the natural successor to Arsène Wenger as the club's next manager.

'I am committed to Leeds and would love to build a team that enjoys success for years up here,' O'Leary added.

'I loved every minute of my time at Arsenal and never believed I could repeat that happiness in football, but I am.

'I can only say that if Leeds were to sack me and Arsenal took sympathy on me, if they needed a new manager, I would be remarkably flattered. This game, however, is all about what Leeds can do, as far as I'm concerned.'

NEWCASTLE UNITED V CHELSEA
SKY SPORTS 2 SUNDAY 9TH APRIL 2.00PM - LIVE

The Toon Army hope for a close encounter of the third kind, as Nick Callow reports

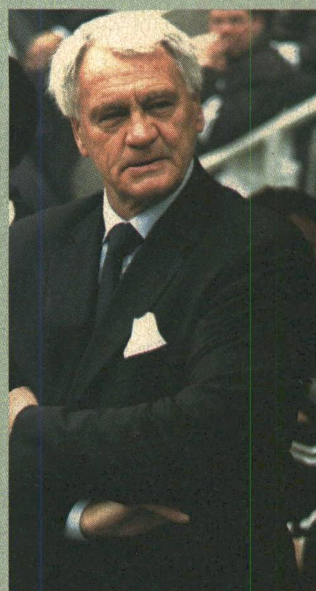

Final destination

BOBBI ROBSON has his sights set on leading Newcastle out at Wembley in an FA Cup Final in only his first season back in English management. Should he mastermind a dress rehearsal victory in the Wembley semi-final against Chelsea, it will be the north-east club's third successive season in the final.

The former England manager has transformed Newcastle's fortunes since replacing Ruud Gullit this season. They have gone from a relegation side to potential silverware winners and Robson insists that Chelsea's recent Premier League win at St James' Park should have little effect on the outcome of this clash.

Robson said: 'Our two games against Chelsea so far have shown that there is only a small gap between the two sides. I am convinced we can close that gap by the time we get to Wembley.'

'We have cleared ourselves of any fear of relegation now and I must admit that I am surprised at the amount of progress we have made in such a short space of time.

'This is to be the last FA Cup Final at the old Wembley and it would be an honour for me to go back there again in May to lead these players out.'

Both teams had relatively straightforward quarter-finals with Chelsea beating Gillingham and Newcastle overcoming Tranmere. This semi-final meeting, however, is a clash of two genuine FA Cup giants.

FOR SOME, the name Foggy evokes an elderly Northern geezer meandering along a country track in Last of the Summer Wine. For others, the name evokes a very different image indeed – another Northerner, except that this one is astride a 996cc £100,000 Ducati motorbike, flashing past awestruck spectators at nigh on 200mph. His many fans know him as Foggy, but he has entered the record books as Carl Fogarty, four-times World Superbike Champion.

This month 33-year-old Fogarty embarks on the epic quest for a fifth World Championship. I catch him on his mobile phone in Valencia, Spain, where he is putting his latest mean machine through its paces. In the background I hear the unmistakable whining of motorbike engines. Fogarty sounds weary.

His enthusiasm for racing, or at any rate the hassle that goes with it, is beginning to wane. 'I hate the travelling, it does my head in,' he tells me. He would have called it a day at the end of 1998, but for Ducati's new team manager, Davide Tardozzi.

'The right person came along at the right time. Davide was fantastic. He kicked me up the backside, which was what I needed.'

Earlier in 1998, Ducati had produced 200 replica editions of Fogarty's bike. The first one off the assembly line went straight to an Italian museum. Fogarty himself got number two. The others were snapped up by wealthy enthusiasts, including, apparently, the footballer Les Ferdinand and Newcastle United director Douglas Hall. Perhaps Hall, who has been known to incur the wrath of Newcastle fans, had a speedy getaway in mind.

Not that Fogarty himself is ever seen on his Ducati except on the track. You won't catch him on two wheels in and around his native Blackburn. He prefers the comfort of

'IF HE WERE ITALIAN HE WOULD BY NOW HAVE BEEN PAINTED ON TO THE CEILING OF THE SISTINE CHAPEL, PROBABLY DOING A WHEELIE'

est of British his silver Mercedes convertible – registration FOG1E. 'Otherwise it would be like taking my work home,' he says, quite reasonably.

I try to provoke him by suggesting that his remarkable achievements are rather undervalued in Britain. I mean, if he were Italian he would by now have been painted on to the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, probably doing a wheelie. But he won't have it. 'I'm recognised everywhere I go in Britain,' he says. 'I have no complaints.'

He used to resent the fact that the British media did not give him the credit or coverage that his deeds deserved. In fairness it must have been galling to see Tim Henman, for example, all but knighted for gallantly failing to win Wimbledon, when in Fogarty we already have a man who bestrides his sport like a colossus. Now, however, he is more philosophical. He does not look enviously at other sports. He goes to watch those other gallant failures, Blackburn Rovers. But he is mystified by the popularity of cricket. 'I can't stand it. It's so slow and complicated.'

In which respect, Superbike racing could hardly be more different. After 25 laps, the quickest bike wins. Simple as that. And to make it even simpler, the man on the quickest bike is usually Fogarty. I ask how fast he has driven. 'Probably about 195mph along the straight at Hockenheim,' he says.

He freely admits that he is not as fast as he used to be. Five years ago there was nobody faster. He felt invincible.

'If someone caught up with me I would just speed up. Before every race I knew I was going to win. It was easy. Qualifying was easy, practice was easy, winning was easy.' He reached perfection, he feels, at Brands Hatch in 1995, on his way to winning his second World Championship. 'I could do anything,' he says bluntly.

This is not arrogance so much as fact. But the facts are different now. He no longer feels invincible and says he has evolved as a driver. 'I reckon I'm a better thinker now. What I have lost in one area I've gained in another. I never used to know much about the technical side, but now I'm very good at setting bikes up. I have changed as a person, too. I'm starting to think about things like holidays. That's probably another sign that I'm getting close to quitting.'

When he does quit, he will not exactly be strapped for cash – witness his Romanesque villa on the Lancashire moors, complete with heated swimming pool and helicopter parked on the five-acre front lawn. Hell, it's enough to make a chap wish that his mother hadn't refused to buy him a moped for his 17th birthday. Look what it might have led to ...

YOUR CHANCE TO BE A SPEED KING!

Win a Ducati Experience Super Trial, or a Nigel Mansell Racing School Formula First Experience

Cable Guide has teamed up with Eurosport to offer two fantastic prizes to motorsport fans. If you've ever fancied yourself as the next Carl Fogarty, The Ducati Experience Super Trial gives one lucky reader the chance to ride a 748 or 996 Ducati bike under the tuition of a top road-racer. The Super Trial includes a briefing in safety and riding technique, and a one-to-one circuit session concentrating on high-speed and circuit-riding techniques.

Wannabe Formula One drivers can test their mettle on the Nigel Mansell Racing School Formula First Experience. After an assessment of your driving skills in a BMW 318i, you'll get behind the wheel of a single-seater Formula First racing car for 10 laps round the circuit.

TO BE IN WITH A CHANCE OF WINNING, answer this question: What is the engine size (in CCs) of Carl Fogarty's Ducati?

To enter, send your answer, name, address and prize preference on a postcard to:

Cable Guide/Motor Racing competition, PO Box 2176, London W1A 5TW, or visit the Cable Guide website at www.cableguide.co.uk. Closing date is 30 April 2000. Full competition rules on page 215.

To be eligible for the Nigel Mansell Racing School prize, entrants must: have held a full, current driving licence (which must be presented on the day) for a minimum of one year; be between 5'4 and 6'5 in height, and no heavier than 17 stone.

To be eligible for the Ducati Experience, entrants must: have held a full, current motorcycle licence (which must be presented on the day) for a minimum of two years; have a minimum inside leg measurement of 28"; be no taller than 6'6, and no heavier than 17 stone.

Somebody's watching me

In The Truman Show, Jim Carrey (left) essays an affecting performance as Truman Burbank, a sweet Average Joe whose feeling that something is not quite right in his idyllic hometown culminates in a shattering realisation: he has been the unwitting hero of a daily soap opera since birth. His life has been captured on hidden cameras for the entertainment of millions of avid viewers, with events ranging from the momentous to the mundane being stage-managed for maximum dramatic potential by the show's enigmatic creator, Christof (Ed Harris). Even his 'wife', 'family' and 'friends' have been played by actors. Peter Weir's film is reminiscent of two similarly intelligent studies in nightmarish paranoia, The Stepford Wives and the cryptic Sixties series The Prisoner. But it has moments of poignancy that set it apart from both. Sky Premier Saturday 1st 8.00pm

This bird lacks bite

A spin-off series from the fondly remembered animated spy spoof Danger Mouse, Count Duckula is a gloriously witty spin on bloodsucking lore for the little 'uns. The feathered vampire of the title (brilliantly voiced by David Jason) is a vegetarian who has a voracious appetite for broccoli rather than blood. In this Saturday's episode, Lost City of Atlantis, the Count is marooned on a desert island.

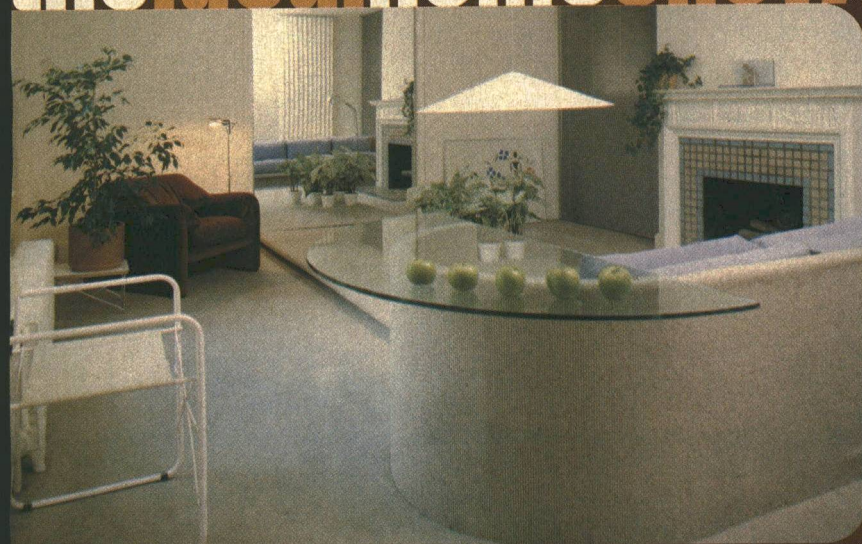

Sky One weekends 7.00am

Battle of midway

There's a mid-table clash at White Hart Lane this week as two of the Premiership's underachievers – Tottenham Hotspur (whose David Ginola is pictured, right) and Middlesbrough – meet on Monday night. Tottenham have struggled for firepower this season, with injuries to Les Ferdinand and Steffen Iversen restricting manager George Graham's striking options. And for beleaguered Boro boss Bryan Robson, the return of the popular Brazilian star Juninho has so far failed to galvanise a side that, given the calibre of the personnel, should not have been flirting with the relegation zone this season.

The Truman Show Sky Premier 8.00pm Truman Burbank (Jim Carrey, on touching form) is about to discover his entire life is a sham – his every act has been secretly filmed and stage-managed since birth for the sake of a soap opera of which he is the unwitting star. An intelligent drama from Peter Weir.		Celebrity Death Match Sky One from 9.00pm Book your ringside seat for an evening of the stop-motion animation show of celebrity wrestling bouts. Among the clay incarnations pitting their wits and fists in the ring are rap stars Eminem and Kid Rock, and basketball supremo Michael Jordan v the eccentric Dennis Rodman.

LIVE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP GRAND PRIX EUROSPORT FROM 6.00AM by Ross Biddiscombe This weekend in Sepang, Malaysia, sees the latest round of the motorcycling grand prix season. Reigning 250cc world champion Valentino Rossi (pictured) is making a name for himself this year in the 500cc class in the absence of the newly retired Michael Doohan, who himself is now manager of Rossi's Honda 500 team. Britain's Jeremy McWilliams has also moved up to join the 500cc boys, but is more likely to be consolidating his position rather than aiming for ace wins. THE DAVE SAINT SHOW 1.00PM

From the directors of The Royle Family and The Fast Show, The Dave Saint Show is funny, entertaining and to the point. Starring John Thomson, it combines top pop with big laughs and just a little sub-cultural terrorism.

LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: DERBY COUNTY V LEICESTER CITY SKY SPORTS 1 12NOON

The Premier League's East Midlands derby clash is at Pride Park where Derby entertain the Worthington Cup winners Leicester. Jim Smith's Derby have perked up with some mid-season signings like midfielder Craig Burley (right in picture) who came from Celtic. Home wins are what County's survival depends on, but the Foxes won't lie down for their near neighbours. Their own midfield with Neil Lennon and Muzzy Izzet (left in picture) is the bedrock of their success so watch out for goals from this area.

	 George Graham's Spurs are said to be turning into a carbon copy of his less appealing Arsenal teams. That is to say that scores of 1-0 are often the order of the day and this evening's match against Middlesbrough is unlikely to be a high-scoring affair. Boro have stopped leaking goals, giving Juninho (pictured, right, with Christian Ziege) and company a better chance to actually win matches, while Spurs are driven by midfield men like Tim Sherwood (pictured, left) who will supply the likes of Chris Armstrong. LIVE WEST BROMWICH ALBION V IPSWICH TOWN SKY SPORTS 3 7.30PM

When Ipswich visit the Hawthorns tonight to take on West Brom - who last month appointed Gary Megson as their new manager - a place in the Premier League beckons. Too many times have George Burley's East Anglian charges failed to win one of the two automatic promotion places and ended up in the play-offs. This season, the goals of Jamie Clapham (pictured, right) are helping to push them the extra mile. Albion, meanwhile, need a solid performance from players like Jason Van Blerk (pictured, left).

LOVE STARS BY MARGIE THILLART

APRIL BIRTHDAYS
3rd David Hyde Pierce 5th Jane Asher
7th David Frost 14th Sarah Michelle Gellar
15th Emma Thompson 18th Melissa Joan Hart
Sensational ★★★ Stimulating ★★ Satisfactory ★

Aries

21 March-20 April ★★★
GREATER recognition from loved ones or a dreamy romantic encounter should leave you feeling thoroughly satisfied with life. Loving Venus helps transform your personal relationships this month and also opens up new vistas.

Libra

24 September-23 October ★★★
AROUND the 19th's full Moon there may be glitches in a personal relationship, so take steps now to nip any potential problems in the bud. Those born early in October may be targets for predatory people during the month of May.

Taurus

21 April-21 May ★★
MARS and Jupiter impact on your personal life, making you stronger and creating an atmosphere of positive change. There may be fireworks in a close relationship, but that will only add extra zing to an already passionate month.

Scorpio

24 October-22 November ★★
WITH a lighter heart and more positive outlook, you can change your current course. Those who have been taking life one step at a time should increase the tempo and start chasing their dreams. Jupiter blesses you with inner strength in May.

Gemini

22 May-21 June ★★
BECAUSE you will be accountable for your actions, you must curb your desires and impulses. The two major trouble spots in your chart are love and money, so think twice before jumping feet first into any new ventures.

Sagittarius

23 November-22 December ★★
VENUS and Mars contradict each other this month, making it difficult to find the right romantic balance. Hence, you will probably have no trouble attracting admirers, but keeping them interested could prove quite a challenge.

Cancer

22 June-23 July ★★
WHILE this is not the time to throw tantrums, you should at least try to get your message across. The combined force of Mars and Saturn help give you the aggressive edge over others, but suggest trouble with your loved ones.

Capricorn

23 December-20 January ★★
BROKEN dreams and empty promises may have dampened your spirits, but they have taught you not to be so trusting. To make the most of this month's cosmic energy, stop putting the needs of others first and nurture yourself for a change.

Leo

24 July-23 August ★
THIS month's planets create a breeding ground for lethargy and wilful behaviour. Ideally, you should stick to simple tasks and pleasant pastimes. But if that's not possible, lean on loved ones for support and bite your tongue.

Aquarius

21 January-19 February ★★
BY putting a positive spin on events, you can turn a trying situation into a great learning experience. For the time being fate has finished treating you unfairly and the road ahead looks clear for the next few months.

Virgo

24 August-23 September ★★
WITH several planets aligned in your favour, you can expect a sudden turnaround in affairs of the heart. If someone has been uncooperative or emotionally distant, you will feel more secure about their love this month.

Pisces

20 February-20 March ★★
IT may be time to up the ante in a relationship, especially if someone is taking you for granted. Full Moons tend to bring situations to a head and with this month's in the powerful sign of Scorpio, you must face the music.

LIVE CYCLING: BASQUE COUNTRY TOUR EUROSPORT 2.30PM

There are two great cycling races in Spain this month, the first one being the 40th Basque Country Tour. There will be six stages that make up this event - today sees the third from Trapagaran to Vitoria - which was won last year by Frenchman Laurent Jalabert (pictured, left). He is almost certain to return to defend his title and will face tough opposition from the likes of Alex Zülle (pictured, right, at the front) of Switzerland who is also a specialist in this tour. Zülle won it in 1995 and 1997.

The warm, romantic lighting of this film is at ironic odds with its dark tone. Adapted from the John Fowles novel, it features an unsettlingly sympathetic turn from Terence Stamp as the meek butterfly enthusiast who decides to add a pretty female art student to his collection.

LIVE SNOOKER: SCOTTISH OPEN SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM, 7.00PM

A love it or loathe it proposition

Maverick director Terry Gilliam bombards the viewer with a catalogue of outrageous images as he brings Hunter S Thompson's counter-culture novel Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas to the screen. Armed with an extravagant array of narcotics, journalist Raoul Duke (Johnny Depp, left, giving his most abandoned performance) drives to Las Vegas with his crazed attorney (a bloated Benicio Del Toro) to cover a motorcycle race. On arriving in the gambling capital, the pair quickly descend into a drug-fuelled, darkly comic nightmare. At first, it might be difficult to reconcile this hallucinatory exercise in excess with Gilliam's other films, but it does boast his unique stylistic stamp. The spiteful humour and earthy grotesquerie have their basis in his early outings Monty Python and the Holy Grail (which he co-directed with Terry Jones) and Jabberwocky. The fevered, pharmaceutically enhanced imaginings of Duke, meanwhile, are explored in vividly cinematic terms, allowing Gilliam to blur the line between fantasy and reality, much as he had done in Brazil and The Fisher King. Queasy camera work and disturbing images make for a singularly unsettling experience in a film that will shock many viewers – and that, of course, is the point. Sky Premier Tuesday 11th 10.00pm

Hercules at journey's end

The hugely entertaining Hercules: The Legendary Journeys reaches the end of the road as its sixth and final season arrives on Sky One. The series was conceived by Sam Raimi and Robert Tapert, the team behind the Evil Dead trilogy – the final instalment of which, Army of Darkness, had similarly comedic sword-and-sorcery stylings. In the opening episode, Hercules (Kevin Sorbo) battles an evil Serena impostor. Sky One Monday 10th 6.00pm

Up, up and away?

Spirited First Division promotion favourites Charlton Athletic reserved one of their finest performances of the season for their visit to the McAlpine Stadium in December, where they triumphed 2-1 over then high-flyers Huddersfield Town and went on to win another ten league games on the trot. It was a match that was driven by the exhilarating play of Addicks winger John Robinson, who set up Andy Hunt's opening goal with a cheeky back-heel before netting the decider with a 35-yard goal-of-the-season smash. This Friday, the Londoners will be hoping they can pull off a similarly inspired display and bag three more valuable points as Town pay a visit to the Valley. Charlton boss Alan Curbishley continues to augment his formidable squad with shrewd signings, most recently the promising Swedish forward Matt Svensson, a cut-price acquisition from cash-strapped Crystal Palace. Meanwhile, two players who failed to impress in the team's last Premiership campaign have really hit their stride: striker Hunt has enjoyed a sublime season, emerging as the club's top scorer with no less than three hat tricks to his name so far, while the speedy Shaun Newton (pictured) has found truly inspirational form, always impressing with his lightning drives down the right flank and the sort of meticulously launched crosses that forwards can't help but convert.

LIVE EQUESTRIANISM: FEI WORLD CUP SERIES EUROSPORT 5.00PM

With the final of the International Equestrian Federation's World Cup taking place later this month in Las Vegas, it's time for the European riders to be selected for the contest. Gothenburg's Scandinavium Arena is the venue for European qualification. Riders in the running this season include Britain's John Whitaker (pictured) and the German stars Carston-Otto Nagel and Ralf Schneider. The top 18 riders from Europe will go to Las Vegas and ex-champion Hugo Simon of Austria hopes to be among them.

Two-Lane Blacktop
Carlton Cinema 11.00pm
This cryptic 1970s road movie sees two slacker hot rod freaks (singer James Taylor and Beach Boy Dennis Wilson) race a sports car-driving square (Warren Oates) across the country. The impenetrable anti-acting of Taylor and Wilson heightens the hypnotic tone.

LIVE FA CUP SEMI-FINAL: NEWCASTLE UNITED V CHELSEA SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM

At Wembley today, Newcastle will attempt to reach their third consecutive FA Cup final of recent times, but standing in their way are Gianluca Vialli's Chelsea who won this trophy in 1997. The Magpies under Bobby Robson are revitalised with Kieron Dyer (pictured, left) starring in midfield and Alan Shearer scoring regularly again. The Blues, meanwhile, have the Uruguayan Gustavo Poyet (pictured, right, with Gianfranco Zola) in their armoury and a top team of internationals to support him.

Considered a sophisticated sex farce in the Sixties, this now looks like an endearingly dated souvenir of that swinging decade. But the witty interplay between Natalie Wood, Robert Culp, Elliott Gould and Dyan Cannon remains as enjoyable as ever. A TV series followed.

LIVE MIDDLESBROUGH V MANCHESTER UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

There will always be some history between Middlesbrough and Manchester United while the two managers - Bryan Robson and Sir Alex Ferguson - are in charge. Fergie's one-time skipper has had a rough season at Boro, but things turned around when injuries to players like Hamilton Ricard (pictured, left) cleared up. United, meanwhile, will look to the inspirational David Beckham (pictured, right) as they continue their march towards a sixth Premier League title, at the Riverside Stadium.

S Club

7th heaven

Before they returned home for Easter, Cable Guide e-mailed Brit Award winners S Club 7 on location in America to check out what they've been up to What's 'Miami 7' all about?

HANNAH:

Miami 7 is the name of our first TV show (on Disney Channel this month). We all play ourselves in it, only our personalities are slightly exaggerated. Tina's not that bossy in real life (joke)! It's about S Club 7 looking for fame and fortune in Miami. We're promised a cool job in a hotel as entertainment but on arrival, we're treated like slaves. We get up to all sorts of adventures in Miami, and there's loads of music in every show, mostly from our first album.

What was it like filming in Florida?

RACHEL:

It was really hot, which is great, but we didn't get a lot of time to spend in the sun unless we were filming outside – plus I've got quite sensitive eyes, which makes me squint in the sun! It was the first time some of us had ever been to America.

What was the best part about filming?

BRADLEY:

It was hot, it was in America, the food was great and it was the first time we'd ever acted together. It made a nice change from singing. We're really lucky we get to do both – and abroad too!

What was the worst part about filming?

JON:

We were away from home for ages and we all got homesick. It was weird having your own place to stay, being with the S Club guys for so long and not seeing your family. The workload was tremendous too – early mornings, late nights – basically it was a bit of a shock to the system. But once we were into it – it was brilliant fun.

What was the funniest thing that happened?

JO:

We had loads of funny experiences! People forgot their lines all the time and ended up having giggle fits – Bradley fell over on set and ended up in the pool! We often had the funniest times after filming when we're all hyped up and couldn't always sleep.

What have the S Clubbers been up to so far in Y2K?

PAUL:

We've been in LA since January filming our second TV series, S Club 7 in LA. It's been great, and not so hard this time round as we've all done it before and we know the crew.

What are you doing in Los Angeles at the moment?

TINA:

We're filming, and recording vocals for our second album (out in June), and shopping on any available day off! There's so much to do here, it's brilliant. It's more chilled and a lot nicer than Miami – not that I didn't like it there!

What have you got planned for the Easter break?

ALL:

We'll be back on home ground, but I think there are plans to have some time off, followed by trips to Europe and maybe Japan. Time off will be great – friends, family and SLEEP!

The new S Club 7 single, Reach, is released on 22 May

*Miami 7
Disney Channel
weekdays, 9.00am,
from Monday 17th*

YOU'VE GOT THE WRITE STUFF!

We received hundreds of fantastic entries for January's poetry competition, in which we asked you to tell us, in verse, what your favourite programmes are on cable TV.

Congratulations to the ten winners who scooped the exclusive collection of prizes from Cartoon Network, Disney Channel, Fox Kids and Nickelodeon.

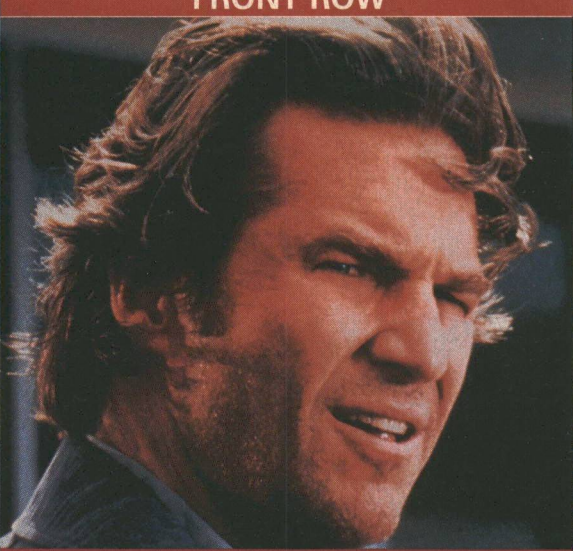

Here is one of the top entries we received, from Sonya Naeem (8), who lives in Manchester:

MY TOP TEN

Pokémon is really cool,
Sabrina causes chaos at school.
The Simpsons is my favourite show,
Dexter's Lab is the place to go.
Hercules is really strong,
Kenan and Kel are always getting it wrong.
Art Attack helps you make fun stuff,
In Hey Arnold, Helga acts tough.
Spiderman always wins the fight,
The Powerpuff Girls fly like the speed of light.
If you really wanna know,
tune in to cable for the best shows!

3,500 GREAT REASONS

to buy your own piece of Paradise!

When you join the Paradise Club you'll enjoy all the amazing benefits of RCI holiday exchanges.

Established well over 25 years ago, they are today the world's largest and most experienced organisation offering luxurious exchange holidays in over 3,500 fabulous resorts in over 85 different locations – Florida, the Caribbean, Australia, the Far East to name but a few.

So how does it work?

It really is very simple – ask any of the two million or so holidaymakers who "swapped" their week(s) for another holiday location, last year alone! Holiday ownership in an RCI approved location opens the door to a wealth of breathtaking luxury holidays for you and your family for the rest of your life.

With a choice of two RCI approved, Gold Crown Award winning luxury resorts in Tenerife to enable you to qualify for these exchanges, don't you owe it to yourself and your family to see how luxurious and flexible holiday ownership can be – and how much it has changed over the past 10 years.

Full written details, an easy to understand information pack and a FREE VIDEO can be yours for the asking.

Write or telephone today, it really could improve your family's holiday outlook forever!

LIVE CYCLING: FLECHE WALLONE EUROSPORT 1.00PM

It's a busy month in the world of cycling with the usual World Cup events plus some classic one-day races held in Belgium. The Flèche Wallone was won last year by Michele Bartoli (pictured, right) of Italy, who edged out the Dutchman Maarten Den Bakker. The 198km race was first held in 1936 and, although it's not a World Cup event, it has an excellent reputation as a good course and a rich tradition of winners including three-times home champion, the legendary Eddy Merckx.

The Boston Strangler
Sky Cinema 10.00pm
The hunt for serial killer Albert DeSalvo drives the plot in this fact-based police procedural – though the multiple-point-of-view split-screen work detracts from the spot-on performances of Tony Curtis (brilliantly cast against type in the title role) and legal eagle Henry Fonda.

GENERAL

The Secret Life of Twins
UK Horizons 9.35pm
The legendary fertility expert, and now TV personality, Dr Robert Winston follows his ground-breaking The Human Body with this three-part series on identical twins. Taking a scientific perspective, Winston examines cases of reported telepathy and parallel lives.

LIVE FORD GOLF USA: PGA SENIORS' CHAMPIONSHIP SKY SPORTS 2 5.00PM

Love it or hate it, the Senior PGA Tour is great entertainment for golf fans. This year's PGA Seniors' Championship at Palm Beach Gardens, Florida, is a case in point as the over-50s once again play a more relaxed kind of tournament golf that the spectators seem to be able to relate to. Not that they don't want to win. Ask last year's champion Allen Doyle (pictured) who scooped more than $300,000 in prize money from the event on his first try, pipping the Argentinian Vicente Fernandez.

Citizen Kane
Sky Cinema 10.00am, 4.00pm
The perennial poll-topper in most all-time best film lists, this, the audacious, hugely influential directorial debut of Orson Welles, chronicles the life and death of a William Randolph Hearst-style newspaper mogul, largely through the conflicting testimony of his colleagues.

GENERAL

Buffy the Vampire Slayer
Sky One 8.00pm
The sexiest woman in sci-fi, Buffy star Sarah Michelle Gellar continues to win hearts in the popular vampire series. Tonight, Buffy's nemesis Faith (Eliza Dushku) awakes from her coma in one helluva bad mood and resolves to brighten up her day by killing Buffy.

 Charlton were not everyone's favourites for a return to the Premier League when the season began. However, a stunning run of form beginning at the turn of the year has propelled them to within a whisker of the top flight, thanks to the form of men like Steve Brown (pictured, left). The south London side beat tonight's opponents Huddersfield 2-1 last December and the likes of Kenny Irons (pictured, right) will have to be at their best if another defeat is to be avoided. 					10.00pm Freeview 10.06 FILM: Fanny Hill 11.40 Playboy's Hard Drive 12midnight Freeview 12.10am Adult Feature 12.40 Wanna Be a Porn Star? 1.15 FILM: Alexandra Silk's Silk Stockings 2.35 New Model File 3.00-4.00am FILM: Alien Sex	12midnight The Ten Minute Preview 12.10am Stripper of the Year 12.20 The Experience 12.45 FILM: Adult Feature 1.00 The Five Minute Freeview 1.05 FILM continues 2.05 Fantasy Night Calls 2.55 FILM: Elements of Desire 3.40-4.00am Labh

Saturday 15th April-Good Friday

Murder is her business

The slickly mounted serial-killer thriller Copycat may not bear comparison to genre heavyweights The Silence of the Lambs and Seven, but it stakes out its suspenseful territory with great skill and serves up more than its fair share of shocks. The film gets down to business immediately in the bravura, heart-stopping opening scene. After delivering a college lecture, criminal psychologist Helen Hudson (Sigourney Weaver) gets an up-close-and-personal demonstration of the twisted techniques of the killers she studies when she's set-upon in a toilet by a white trash psycho (Harry Connick, Jr). Cut to 13 months later: Weaver is now housebound, the trauma of the attack having manifested itself as agoraphobia, which leaves her unable even to venture into her hallway to pick up the morning paper. Meanwhile, a killer with perverse pretensions to art is emulating the grisly handiwork of such infamous multiple murderers as Jeffrey Dahmer. Detectives Monahan (Holly Hunter) and her partner Goetz (Dermot Mulroney) have little to go on until Hudson is persuaded to share her knowledge and help in the hunt for the maniac. It soon becomes clear, however, that the culprit has chosen Hudson to play the most important part in his macabre master plan.

FilmFour Saturday 15th 10.00pm

Mersey heat

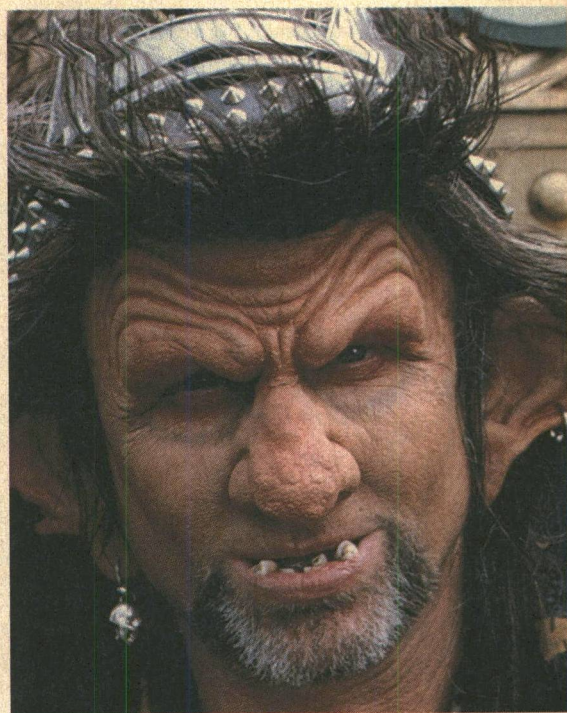

Only the heated Old Firm encounters between Glasgow enemies Rangers and Celtic can match the Everton-Liverpool derby for sheer physical intensity, so fierce is the rivalry between the Merseyside teams. Liverpool lost 1-0 when they clashed with the Toffees (whose Joe-Max Moore is pictured) at Anfield last September. But there's more than local pride at stake for the Reds at Goodison Park this Friday, as they've set their sights on a Champions' League spot.

Sky Sports 1 Good Friday 7.00pm - LIVE

The greatest story ever told?

A long-cherished, lovingly crafted epic, Sky One's The 10th Kingdom ranks as one of the most ambitious series ever screened on the channel. This atmospheric ten-part saga sees the humdrum lives of New York janitor (John Larroquette) and his waitress daughter (Kimberly Williams) get a dose of colourful adventure when they find themselves transported into the parallel world of the Nine Kingdoms (the 10th is the modern-day Big Apple) with their new companion, a prince who has been transformed into a dog by his wicked stepmother. Over the course of the series, our heroes strive to bring peace to the troubled kingdoms - something that their pursuers, an evil huntsman (Rutger Hauer) and some murderous trolls (led by Ed O'Neill, pictured), want to prevent. While The 10th Kingdom draws on the motifs and characters of classic fairy tales, including Snow White and Little Red Riding Hood, it succeeds in creating its own unique mythology. There is an interesting tension between the familiar and the wholly original, so even the most bizarre characters experience identifiable emotions, which are conveyed by the cast with admirable understatement. Indeed, screenwriter Simon Moore has revealed that his intention was to couch the fantastical elements of the series in naturalistic, even gritty, terms.

LIVE FORD GOLF USA: MCI CLASSIC SKY SPORTS 2 8.00PM

Glen Day (pictured) is a worthy defending champion at this year's $3m MCI Classic at the Harbour Town links in Hilton Head, South Carolina. Last year he shot a final round of 66 to force a three-way play-off and then birdied the opening extra hole to win the title. The course is one of the most picturesque on the American east coast and, if the wind blows, then the scenes look more like the east coast of Scotland. If Day successfully defends this title, his first on the PGA Tour, he'll pocket $540,000.

LIVE FORD SUPER SUNDAY: LEEDS UNITED V ARSENAL SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

The top three sides in the Premier League qualify for a place in next season's Champions' League, so today's clash between Leeds and Arsenal is crucial. The Londoners beat the Yorkshire club 2-0 in December, so Jason Wilcox (pictured, left) and the rest of Leeds' ambitious team are out to even the score. But Arsenal, with their French connection of Thierry Henry (pictured, right), Patrick Vieira and Emmanuel Petit, will provide tough opposition. A draw will not suit either team, so you can expect some attacking play.

borrow £20,000
for just £187 a month

If you're thinking about borrowing a large sum of money but you don't want to lose control of your own finances, then it makes sense to talk to someone you know you can trust. Someone like Black Horse Finance.

We have your interests in mind and you can depend on us to offer you a safe and responsible way to borrow the amount you need.

With our secured Homeowner Loan you could afford to purchase almost anything you have your eye on, or you could reorganise other loans and credit into one affordable monthly repayment.

You can borrow from £20,000 to £50,000 at 9.9% APR (variable), and choose to spread the repayments for up to 20 years. Loans from £3,000 to £19,900 are also available at other rates. An optional Payment Protection Plan can cover your payments in the event of death, illness, accident, compulsory redundancy (or hospitalisation if self-employed).

If you would like to apply for a loan, you can call us free on 0800 378 151 9am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat-Sun or for hearing or speech impaired customers with their own textphone, call 0800 731 7098. Alternatively, complete and return the coupon below. Either way we won't ask you for an interview or charge an arrangement fee.

Homeowner Loan Repayments

The wrong Formula?

This month sees Formula One roaring onto the Silverstone track for the first British Grand Prix of the new Millennium.

But Vicki Butler-Henderson wants the sport to get back to basics ...

THE Formula One circus got back in gear in Melbourne last month, and I wish I could have been there.

However, I must confess that my interest in the championship has dwindled in the last few years because of all the money and power that seem to be wrapped up in it.

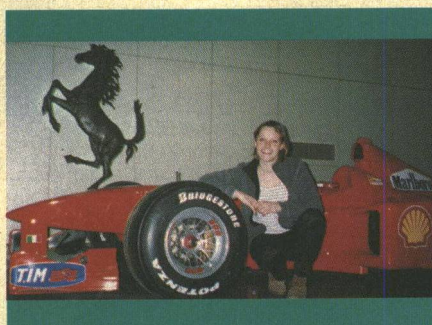

If you've ever been to a Grand Prix then you'll have seen the unnecessary extravagance that surrounds these events: the swarms of helicopters filling the sky for a whole weekend, and the mass of marquees that take a week to erect but are then only enjoyed by a privileged few.

In my opinion, Formula One has become a massive hospitality extravaganza, which has pushed up prices for the 'average' punter.

The British GP race-day tickets start at about £90. Then it's more cash for a seat in a partly covered stand, and even more to park, which then gives you the privilege of sitting in a queue as you try to leave – looking at the choppers through your sun roof!

This year, the Silverstone race has been moved from Summer to April – well known for its showers – and no doubt money was the main motive behind it.

In the good old days of F1 you could meander through the pits and bump into the drivers, have a chat, and really feel part of the whole occasion.

Vicki Butler-Henderson

Today, you're lucky if you get an obscured glimpse of the cars as they rush by at about 200mph.

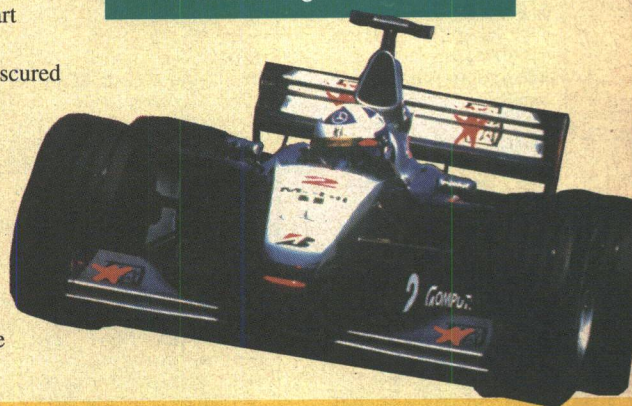

Now I don't mean to be a Formula One killjoy, but to me the greed and money involved is destroying the joy of the sport. At the end of the day, it is people like you and me who pay good money at the gates and keep the electric atmosphere alive during the race.

Therefore, the public should, no, must, be better catered for. Cheaper tickets, superior viewing spots and better consideration must be given to the paying public.

Otherwise we'll start to switch off, and that would be such a shame because F1 represents the pinnacle of motoring technology. The cars are created by the world's most accomplished engineers and designers and are driven by the best.

F1 has the potential to be great again. I would love to see that happen.

'I entered because I really wanted to win it ...'

Back in October Cable Guide ran a competition offering one lucky reader the chance to be a Top Gear GTi presenter for a day. It was a dream come true for Grace Johnson ...

VICKI Butler-Henderson had better watch out because Grace

Johnson has arrived! Only kidding, but the mother-of-two from Essex says, 'I wouldn't mind if they offered me her job – I'd love to do it!'

Johnson spent a day with the Top Gear crew at Long Marston airfield, near Stratford-on-Avon, putting the new £73,000 Honda NSX through its paces. 'I got up to 110mph – I didn't want to push it any faster! Top Gear presenter Steve Berry took me for a spin around the airfield – he got it up to about 140mph, I think. That was fast! I was so excited!

But being a presenter isn't as easy as it looks. 'You don't get a script, you have to do it off the top of your head. I started off okay, but then I dried up in front of the camera!'

Lights, camera, action: Grace Johnson enjoys life in the fast lane as a Top Gear GTi presenter

Grace still has to pinch herself to believe she actually won. She says, 'I don't think I'll believe it until I see it.' And what about her mates? 'I think a lot of them will probably be jealous – especially the blokes. They won't let on, though, they'll say, "Oh I could do that – nothing to it!"'

McVicar
FilmFour 10.00pm
The Who's Roger Daltrey contributes a creditable impersonation of hardman convict John McVicar in this fact-based drama. Small screen specialist Tom Clegg's direction is rather low-key, but the film pulls no punches in its depiction of prison life.

LPGA GOLF: LONGS DRUGS CHALLENGE SKY SPORTS 2 10.00AM, 2.30PM

With the recent return to form of Laura Davies, interest in women's golf has perked up for British fans. Davies, the winner of the Los Angeles Women's Championship in February, challenges Juli Inkster (pictured) for this year's Longs Drugs Challenge, which the American won by four strokes last year from Sherri Steinhauer. The tournament is played at the Twelve Bridges Golf Club in Lincoln, California, with a total prize fund of $700,000 - but Davies is after more titles not money.

Kramer vs Kramer
Carlton Cinema 9.00pm, 3.00am
No emotion is spared in director-scripser Robert Benton's heart-breaking chronicle of the break-up of a family. The poignant, well-judged performances of leads Dustin Hoffman and Meryl Streep earned them an Oscar each (the film notched up a total of five).

GENERAL

Crime Night
Discovery from 8.00pm
An evening devoted to all things criminal. Some of the world's most notorious felons are interviewed as well as the special police forces responsible for tracking them down. There is also an investigation into the alarming rise of white supremacy in the USA.

	LIVE GREATER GREENSBORO CHRYSLER CLASSIC SKY SPORTS 2 8.30PM  For a man who wasn't even going to play in last year's Greater Greensboro Chrysler Classic, Jesper Parnevik (pictured, left) certainly enjoyed his victory cigar. The Swede only took part to accompany his friend and compatriot Per-Ulrik Johansson, who flew over to America for the tournament. This year, the ubiquitous Tiger Woods (pictured, right) is the man to beat and Parnevik has the added pressure of defending a title that only the legendary Sam Snead has won two years in a row. The total prize money is $3m. LIVE FORD FOOTBALL SPECIAL: EVERTON V LIVERPOOL SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

It might be Good Friday, but on Merseyside today it's simply the second leg of the annual cross-town derby clash between Everton (whose Mark Pembroke is pictured, left) and Liverpool, with the Toffees one up after the 1-0 victory at Anfield in September. Both teams have enjoyed a burst of good form and the Reds' striker Titi Camara (pictured, right) has helped to fill the gap left by injuries to Michael Owen and Robbie Fowler, to help in his side's fight for a place in the Champions' League.

Dolls behaving badly

The Child's Play franchise re-invents itself with a certain amount of perverse panache in the fourth instalment, Bride of Chucky, which is concerned more with impish humour than heart-stopping horror. Chucky (voiced by Brad Dourif), a toy figure inhabited by the spirit of a serial killer, transports the soul of old girlfriend Tiffany (Jennifer Tilly) into a female doll. The possessed playthings stow away in the van of an eloping teenage couple and embark on a cross-country killing spree, which the young sweethearts are suspected of committing. This is something of a departure for Ronny Yu, the director of the richly designed Hong Kong fairy tale The Bride with White Hair. But he gives the film a stylish sheen, and there are moments of genuine visual flair, including an impressively imagined death-by-mirror. Front Row (see listings for details)

Will United avenge Vialli's boys?

A mouth-watering Premiership fixture is to be served up this Sunday when Gianluca Vialli's Chelsea take on Manchester United at Old Trafford. The game guarantees to be an intense encounter that might just decide the league championship, and the home side will relish the opportunity to avenge their 5-0 drubbing by the Blues last October. But Chelsea will no doubt fight fiercely to pull off the double.

New kids on the block

The latest cartoon to follow the misadventures of a group of tots has just arrived on Sky One. Tiny terrors Derrick, Meg and Buck are kiddie crime-fighting heroes in the irreverent animation Mega Babies. The series promises plenty of outrageous fun, with such typically embarrassing toddler traits as breaking wind, runny noses and tantrums being exaggerated to hilarious effect.

Sky One, weekdays from Monday 17th, 10.00am

LIVE EURO TOUR GOLF: MOROCCAN OPEN SKY SPORTS 3 3.00PM

The penultimate day of the Moroccan Open at the Royal D'Agadir course will send the memory banks into overdrive because of last year's epic six-hole play-off won by evergreen Spaniard Miguel Angel Martin (pictured, left). Martin shook off David Park, of Wales, (pictured, right) to win his first PGA European Tour title and £58,000 since he fell from grace prior to the 1997 Ryder Cup. Park, however, had the last laugh by becoming one of the outstanding new talents of 1999.

Once-banned in Britain, this, the rough-hewn, pungently sleazy debut of director Abel Ferrara, may not live down to its reputation as a reprehensible video nasty, but it still packs a powerful punch.
A pseudonymous Ferrara is the power tool-wielding maniac stalking New York.

LIVE FORD FOOTBALL SPECIAL: MANCHESTER UTD V CHELSEA SKY SPORTS 1 11.30AM

No one thumps Manchester United 5-0 and gets away with it - that's likely to be the basis of Sir Alex Ferguson's team talk before this morning's match at home to Chelsea. The Blues routed United at Stamford Bridge last October - it was the Reds' worst league defeat for three seasons - in a bad-tempered affair. Dennis Wise (pictured, right) and his team ruled the day and the United fire power of Andy Cole and Dwight Yorke (pictured, left) was not a factor. Old Trafford today may well witness a different story.

There's no doubting that director Abel Ferrara, that controversial chronicler of the urban underbelly, is possessed of an angrily unique vision, but this rape-revenge tale is an uneasy mix of art and exploitation. The surreal, apocalyptic climax is memorable, though.

LIVE FIRST DIVISION FOOTBALL: IPSWICH V CRYSTAL PALACE SKY SPORTS 2 7.30PM

The old football adage - you must win your home games - is as true for promotion hopefuls as it is for those teams fighting relegation. Ipswich will have that thought in mind today at Portman Road when they entertain struggling Crystal Palace. The Suffolk side with in-form Matt Holland (pictured, left) and David Johnson would prefer an early goal as well, while Wayne Carlisle (pictured, right) and his Palace colleagues will want to keep the home fans quiet with a clean sheet.

LIVE FORD GOLF USA: SHELL HOUSTON OPEN SKY SPORTS 2 9.00PM

LIVE EURO TOUR GOLF: PEUGEOT OPEN DE ESPAÑA SKY SPORTS 1 1.00PM

Jarmo Sandelin comes to the Peugeot Open de España at the PGA Golf de Catalunya course in Barcelona with a point to prove. The Swede won here last year – pocketing 840,000 euros in the process – to set up a Ryder Cup place, but then played only in the singles portion of the world's most prestigious team event and disastrously lost. The opening day of his championship defence will show his fellow professionals whether Sandelin has forgotten his unfortunate Ryder Cup experience.

The Addiction
FilmFour 12midnight
Abel Ferrara's take on the vampire movie results in this sombre, coldly intellectual mood piece. Filmed in bleak black and white, it sees the behaviour of a philosophy student (Lili Taylor) grow increasingly bizarre after a strange woman lures her into an alley to bite her.

GENERAL

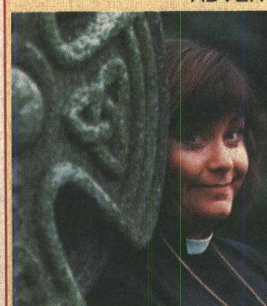

Psycho Night
MTV 10.00pm
This themed night looks at the link between music and murder. From the alleged connection between the likes of Marilyn Manson and recent American school massacres to the violent content in many videos. Plus, there's an exclusive behind-the-scenes special on Scream 3.

LIVE LENNOX LEWIS V MICHAEL GRANT SKY BOX OFFICE 10.00PM

Lennox Lewis makes his first defence as undisputed world heavyweight boxing champion tonight at the prestigious Madison Square Garden, in New York, against American Michael Grant. Lewis's biggest battle since his unification victory over Evander Holyfield in Las Vegas last November was with the WBA to stop them from stripping him of their version of the title. Tonight's real fight shouldn't be beyond the big Briton, but he needs to put all the out-of-ring distractions behind him. For more details please call 0500 601055.

★ THIRD WATCH TO THE RESCUE AND THE WINNER IS ...

Sky One's Third Watch, for the best new and inventive TV debut this season. The writing team that brought us ER has triumphed again. Gritty realism with the deft touches of Hill Street Blues, sexy leading men like Coby Bell and Skipp Sudduth (yes he is!) and tours de force performances from Kim Raver as the single mum and Molly Price who comes on like Lacey but with a lot more attitude. Goodbye ER, goodbye all other pale imitations of New York's emergency teams and hello to the best by far. Well done to executive producers John Wells, Christopher Chulack and everyone involved. My Tuesday nights will never be the same.

Fran Messer, e-mail
● Congratulations, Fran, you've won the £50 prize!

EXORCISING THE MIND, AT LAST

A HUGE thank you to Sky Premier for being the first TV channel in the UK to show The Exorcist (December 1999). Looking back, it's hard to believe that the film was virtually ignored by the BBC, ITV and Channel 4 for many years. By doing this they added to the stigma that has been attached to the film, fuelled originally, of course, by the British Board of Film Classification's refusal to release it on video. Are there any plans for Sky Premier or Sky MovieMax to show the 1977 sequel, Exorcist II - The Heretic? I know this film isn't thought to be anywhere near as good as the original, but it is far superior to the dismal Exorcist III which came out in 1990. Exorcist II has never been shown on network TV either.

D Fraser, Lancashire
● The BBFC told Cable Guide that the channels you mentioned would have been forbidden to show The Exorcist, under ITC rules, before it had been awarded a video classification. None of the cable film channels have any current plans to

The winning watch: Third Watch cast members, Coby Bell,
Molly Price, Jason Wiles
and Skipp Sudduth

show Exorcist II - The Heretic. But you can see The Exorcist again on Thursday 13th on Sky Premier.

ONE IS NOT AMUSED

ONCE again, with the new series of Dharma and Greg, the Paramount Comedy Channel demonstrates its inability to transmit a TV series in the correct order. Not for the first time we get an excellent series ruined by episodes being constantly chopped and changed around. It's not difficult - just show the series in the order intended. There's no excuse for not doing it!

John Fee, e-mail
● Paramount Comedy Channel responds: 'We apologise for recent episode changes in the running order of Dharma and Greg. Acting in the viewers' interest, we took the decision to make transmission changes to listed episodes we considered of a sensitive nature due to a recent news item. These episodes will be shown at a later date.'

WHO'S THE ROSWELL VOICE?

I LOVE Roswell High on Sky One, but who sings the opening credits? It sounds like Sarah McLachlan, but I'm not sure.

Sian Frampton, e-mail
● The theme song is by British singer, and Sarah McLachlan fan, Dido. The track is called Here with Me and is featured on her debut album No Angel. Roswell High fans can read our interview with one of the show's stars, Jason Behr (Max Evans), in next month's Cable Guide.

THE BUFFY AND ANGEL SAGA ...

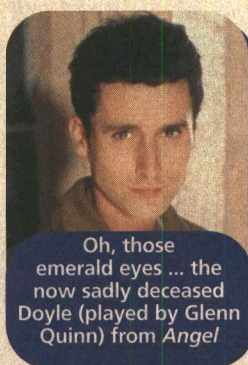

IN RESPONSE to Linda McGrath's comments in the March Viewers' Views, what are you talking about? While I agree Buffy has so far not found its ground this season, it has produced some of the best episodes ever. 'Harsh Light of Day' and 'Wild at Heart' were classics. Angel is by far exceeding the standards I (or most) people would expect from a show's first season - even a spin-off. And Doyle's phoney Irish accent is atrocious is it?

Well, it's not phoney - Glenn Quinn was born in Dublin, Ireland!
Peter Ellingford e-mail

WHEN WILL WE BE CHARMED AGAIN?

CONGRATULATIONS to the makers of the brilliant supernatural drama Charmed on Living. This show has just got better and better. Is Living going to show the second series and, if so, when?

Jed, e-mail
● Living informs us they will be showing the second series of Charmed, possibly this summer.

Oh, those emerald eyes ... the now sadly deceased
Doyle (played by Glenn Quinn) from Angel

COMMENTS ON SPORTS COMMENTARY

HOW is it that three of the country's most irritating people managed to find their way to top-notch positions in sports commentary? Am I the only person who dreads my Sunday afternoon football being tarnished by the inane babbling of Andy Gray, or having the England rugby internationals ruined by Stuart Barnes's irritating, pointless and fruitless comments? And the less said about David Lloyd on international cricket coverage, the better.

B Sutton, e-mail

HOW excellent Sky Sports' coverage of the winter tour has been. David Gower has presented the coverage superbly and the commentary by Michael Holding in particular has been outstanding. Sky has definitely got it right.

FANTASY FOLLOW-UP?

AFTER watching Sci-Fi's updated version of Fantasy Island, I was disappointed to find the series had ended. I remember the old Seventies version when I was growing up, but this latest series was far more entertaining and Malcolm McDowell is perfect as Mr Roarke. Friday nights just aren't the same without it! Are there any plans for another series?

Karen Taylor, e-mail
● Sci-Fi responds: 'We're glad you enjoyed Fantasy Island. You were not alone! We've been inundated with letters from viewers asking us if there will be a second series, but sadly the answer is no. Fantasy Island was dropped after the first series by its US backer. But Sci-Fi will be offering viewers a second chance to see Malcolm McDowell and series one in the summer.'

AND THE WINNERS WERE ...

THE stars came out for the biggest night in the cable TV calendar last month. Held at London's Hilton Hotel, the third Cable Guide Cable TV Awards was a glittering occasion made possible by you – the viewers, who voted in your thousands. Televised on UK Style, with hosts Alan Titchmarsh and Carol Smillie, it was a night to remember.

★ Hot stuff! Denise Van Outen takes top honours as your favourite UK Cable TV personality

On the night more than £5000 was raised for the charity Breakthrough Breast Cancer raffle, with Granada Breeze sponsoring a luxury New York trip as the prize.

★ And the applause goes to: Carol Smillie and Alan Titchmarsh
